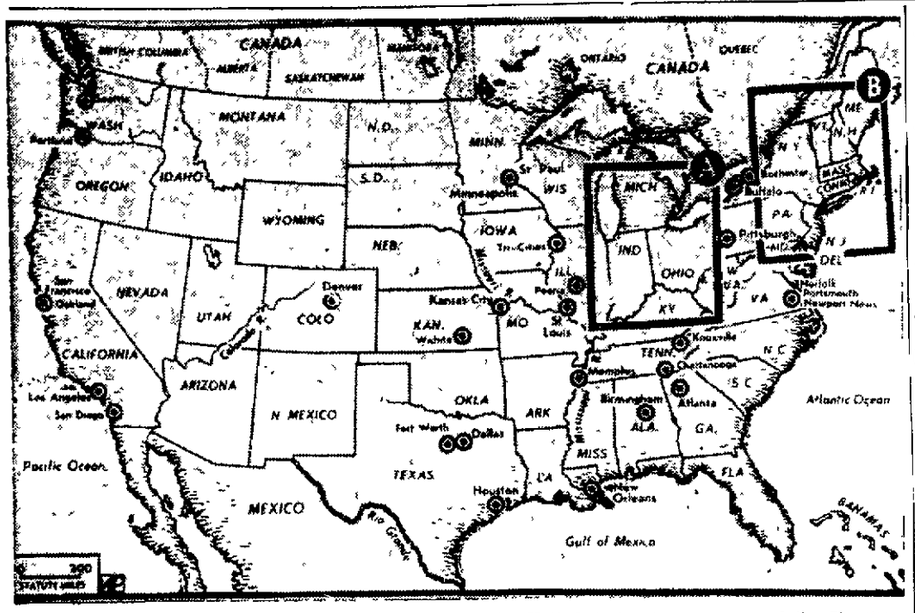
Reds Free 13 POW's; 'Held Against Will,' Some Allege



'CRITICAL TARGET AREAS' IN U. S. This map of the United States locates some of the 70 cities and areas listed as "critical target" areas by the Civil Defense Administration. Boxed areas (A) and (B) in the Northern and Eastern sections contain cities so numerous that it is not possible to include them in detail.

GOP Hears McKay Lash Public Power

Says Government Has No Divine Right To Develop Resources

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Interior McKay said today the federal government has no "divine right" to develop the nation's power resources and the Eisenhower administration is going to give states and local communities a voice in such projects.

But McKay told a rally of Republican women and GOP state chairmen in a prepared address that "We are not planning to give away or permit any one person or any group of persons to walk away with any of this nation's resources."

Get Shot in Arm

The Cabinet member's answer to Democratic criticism of the administration's power policies as a "giveaway" program came while President Eisenhower prepared to give the conference here a long-range shot in the arm by stopping off enroute from Denver to Washington at Glenview Naval Air Station, 30 miles northwest of Chicago.

Eisenhower will greet a delegation of six representatives of the conference, make a brief speech, gather aboard some members of his family and wing on toward Washington 30 minutes after he lands.

Play Up Meeting

The brief stopover apparently was calculated in part to center attention on the Republican meeting, which had been expanded from a workshop session in an effort to answer the Democratic blasts loosed here earlier in the week by Adlai E. Stevenson and former President Truman.

The conference program was such, however, that McKay and Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill) were scheduled to be speaking at a luncheon about the time the President arrived and few of the delegates would have a chance to see Eisenhower.

Just as Postmaster General Summerfield flayed away at the Democrats as "Communist coddlers" at a banquet last night, McKay charged that his Democratic predecessors had been trying to

HE DOESN'T WANT TO GO BACK. Dr. Marek Korowicz, a top United Nations delegate from Communist Poland, points to his homeland on a map during a news conference in which he revealed that he made a pre-dawn escape from his New York hotel room and asked sanctuary in America from the "nightmare" of Red rule in Poland. Dr. Korowicz, 50, a first alternate in the U.N. delegation, said that 95 per cent of the people in Poland are anti-Communist and wait only "for liberation." He is the second top Polish U.N. official to bolt for freedom in the last three years.

ROK's Deny They Refused Repatriation

Statements by Reds Contradicted; 12 Koreans, Turk Return

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Twelve South Koreans and a Turk were freed today by the Reds and some of the ROKs said they were held against their will, a flat contradiction of the Red story that all 13 originally had refused to return home.

There were no Americans in the group of 13, but the South Koreans said they had seen some Americans at Kaesong, in a special camp for about 320 Allied prisoners the Reds say refuse to go home. The Reds said about 20 of these are non-Koreans but have not said if any were American.

Had Expected Americans

U. S. officers had expected some Americans might be included in the Saturday delivery after the Reds said Friday they would release "10 or more" POWs, without revealing the nationalities.

This was the first delivery of Allied prisoners whom the Reds say have changed their minds and decided to return home. The Allies have sent back 15 Red POWs they say reversed their earlier stand against repatriation to their Red homelands.

The regular exchange of prisoners willing to return home ended two weeks ago. Those remaining in captivity reportedly wanted to stay.

However, Lee Choo Bok, a 20-year-old South Korean labor corps worker who was captured in August, 1951, while working for the U. S. 3rd Division said most prisoners still held by the Reds are forcibly detained.

He said some voluntarily elected to stay in Communist North Korea. Lee said these included men who cooperated with the Reds in prison camp.

Held Against Wishes

Lee said the Communists held him against his wishes—while telling the Allies he refused repatriation—because he was "uncooperative."

Another South Korean, Kim Sang Bong, 25, estimated the number of Allied prisoners at Kaesong

A FISH FOR IKE'S SKILLET. President Eisenhower nets a fish while on a small side trip to the ranch of an old pal, Bal Swan, about 50 miles southwest of Denver as he wound up his Colorado vacation.

Vacation Over, Ike Returning To Washington

President Stopping Over Briefly for Talk To GOP in Chicago

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower flies back to Washington today ending six weeks of Colorado vacationing mixed with work.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower were scheduled to leave Lowry Air Force Base aboard the presidential plane Columbine at 11 a.m. (EST).

Chicago Stopover

They arranged to stop for a half hour in Chicago at the Glenview Naval Air Station to pick up their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his family. The major, his wife Barbara and their three children—David 5, Barbara Ann 3, and Susan 1—will go on to Washington to visit at the White House for a few days.

At the Chicago airport, where his plane is due at 2:30 p.m. (EST), the President will greet delegations representing two Republican groups meeting in the city. The delegates are attending the Midwestern states regional conference of GOP women, and the Midwestern-Rocky Mountain states conference of Republican state chairmen.

GOP leaders at the two meetings have urged Eisenhower to reply in Chicago to charges by Democrats that the administration's farm program has failed, and that U.S. allies are being confused by American foreign policy.

Airport Speech

The President will speak briefly and informally from a hastily-erected platform during the half hour stop at the airport. Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty said, however, he does not expect Eisenhower to make any political remarks. He added that the talk probably would be in the form of a greeting only.

The air station is throwing its gates open to the public. Full military honors will be given Eisenhower as he steps from his plane.

Eisenhower is due in Washington at 5:30 p.m. (EST).

It was just six weeks ago to the day that the President arrived in Denver.

Since then, two major government posts have become vacant—one through the death of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson and the other through the resignation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor.

Found on Lonely Road

Woman's Killing in Wyandot County Baffles Investigators

UPPER SANDUSKY — Law enforcement officials here mustered their forces today for an all-out investigation of what gave every evidence of being a baffling murder case.

The inquiry was touched off on Friday with the finding of an unidentified young woman's body on a lonely Wyandot County road.

The woman had been stabbed in the face and head about 20 times. Reports of an autopsy are due to be received sometime Monday. Wyandot County Sheriff Dean McAllister said all indications pointed to murder.

Believed Fair Visitor

Officials in Wyandot County believe the woman may have been one of the many out-of-town persons visiting Upper Sandusky for the Wyandot County Fair, which ends today.

No clues to her identity or residence were found near the body. It was discovered about 9:40 a.m. by a Wyandot County road department employe, Carl Getchell.

He told McAllister he was riding in a high-cabbed truck inspecting the road when he saw the body lying about 15 yards off county road 42 at a point about three miles north of Upper Sandusky and one-half mile west of State Route 53.

McAllister called in the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification from the London Prison Farm. Two men in a mobile crime laboratory, Arnold Fetter and Joe Martino, were dispatched to Upper Sandusky to conduct an investigation.

Fetter, Martino, McAllister, and Wyandot County Coroner Dr. B. H. Hathaway went to the scene where the body had been discovered. After examination of the area, they sent the body to University Hospital in Columbus where a pathologist from Ohio State University, Dr. Ernest Von Haan, was to conduct an autopsy.

Face Mutilated

McAllister said the face was so badly mutilated by the blows that positive identification was almost impossible. He expressed the hope that Dr. Von Haan would be able to reconstruct the main features of the face.

The body was returned to Upper Sandusky this morning. It will be kept at the Bringman and Co. Funeral Home for possible identification. The length of time which the body will be held depends on County officials who declined to comment on the situation.

Dr. Hathaway and prosecutor Harold Roth withheld an official comment until after the report of the autopsy is received.

Roth said this morning the only thing definite about the case is that a body had been found.

The woman was clad in a new pale blue flannel nightgown and red low-heeled shoes. Her fingers were well manicured, but she did not wear any fingernail polish. She had no jewelry on.

McAllister said all the blows were struck on the head and face. No violence was done to her body, he described her as 5 feet, 4 inches tall, weighing between 118 and 135 pounds, probably between 18 and 25 years of age, and having dark brown hair with an auburn tinge. She had been dead since sometime Thursday night.

The sheriff had received no reports of any missing person in the area before the woman's body was found. He was checking the Wyandot County Fairgrounds today to see if any of the out-of-town concession stand workers were missing.

Road Used Little

The road near which the body was found is a lightly-traveled route. It is stone covered and in a sparsely inhabited section of the county. Getchell, who made the discovery, was inspecting the condition of the road at the time.

He said he was able to discover the body because he was high enough in the cab of his truck to see over the side of the road. He expressed doubt that any passing motorist would have been able to see the body, which was partly covered by weeds.

McAllister said the face had been repeatedly struck with a sharp instrument, probably a knife.

All available forces have been called into the investigation. Working on the case are the Wyandot County sheriff's office, the Upper Sandusky police force, and the state highway patrol.

Says Situation Under Study

Benson Promises Price Protection for Farmers

AUGUSTA, Wis. (AP)—Ezra Taft Benson told farmers today he did not "become secretary of agriculture to sit idly by wringing my hands and let the farmer be squeezed by lowered farm prices and high fixed costs."

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at the National Plowing Contest that the Eisenhower administration, as it seeks improvements in farm programs, "has and will do everything in its power to enhance farm prices in 1953-54, using the implements at hand."

Key Policy Speech

Benson had said in advance the speech would be one of the most important he ever made. It came after Democrats, meeting in Chicago this week, had criticized GOP farm policies and after the secretary had conferred with President Eisenhower at the summer White House in Denver.

Benson said he would assure farmers that both the President and he "are determined to do all within our power to protect and improve the living standards of farm people of this great nation."

Farmers can "look forward with confidence" in the Eisenhower administration, he said.

He led up to his statement on his own attitude by saying, "It is time to speak bluntly and plainly on my position."

He said that when he became secretary he held the view he should not sit by while farmers were squeezed and that "I hold it now and I will continue to hold it."

"You are not looking down the abyss of the Thirties," the secretary said. "We are in the Fifties and have tools and are fashioning other tools to build a sound economy."

The administration's help, he said, will include "whatever parity proposals meet the test of the exhaustive study of the farm problem now under way by the nation's farmers, the Department of Agriculture and Congress."

Benson described as "nonsense" charges by political opponents that the administration is "talking rather than doing, studying rather than acting" to help farmers caught in a squeeze between high production costs and declining farm prices, or facing drought and other emergencies.

Have Halted Drop

The record shows he said, that the administration has used all the legal tools available to bring about stability and to help farmers caught in distressing situations.

The GOP farm chief said the administration had succeeded in halting a "deep drop in farm prices which already was under way when we took office." He said that during the last 12 months of the Truman administration, farm prices had declined from 113 to 95 per cent of parity. He said the Eisenhower administration had held prices steady at 93 and 94 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, designed to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay.

Search Planes Spot Life Rafts

Believe B-29 With 16 Crashed in Atlantic

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Coast Guard said here today search planes have spotted three life rafts in the Atlantic near the last reported position of a missing B29 weather reconnaissance plane, 200 miles east of Savannah, Ga.

Sixteen persons were aboard the plane, now long overdue at its base on storm-swept Bermuda.

The Coast Guard said two rafts were sighted bearing one man each and a third raft with "several persons" aboard by its search planes at 6:25 a.m. EST.

The merchant vessel Nassau is in the vicinity and soon should be in the area where the rafts were sighted. In addition, the Coast Guard cutter Aurora and Blackhawk are enroute to the scene.

Two National Plowing Titles On Line Today

AUGUSTA, Wis. (AP)—A score of the nation's best furrowers dipped steel blades into earth and chugged off on their tractors today in quest of a national plowing title.

The contestants, all state champions at least, aimed their furrows at one of two championships—level land or contour.

When the dust settled on that major farm event, the crowd, expected to reach 50,000, was to hear an important address in the afternoon by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Biggest of Year

The biggest farm show of the year also included soil conservation demonstrations and a two million dollar display of farm machinery, spread over 800 acres on the Thompson Creek watershed in this rich agricultural region of northwestern Wisconsin.

The two-day program began with conservation demonstrations Friday and the plowing contestants took a few practice turns about the dry fields while Wisconsin furrow championships were decided. An estimated 16,000 spectators were on hand.

After practicing, the plowmen called it "tough going." The ground is just too dry for first class plowing.

40-Minute Limit

Each entry had a staked strip of about one third of an acre to plow today in the national championships, cutting to a depth of six to eight inches. Forty minutes was the time allotment with a penalty for exceeding that. However, speed was not essential, under the 40 minutes. The defending champions, Graeme Stewart of

U.N. Delegate Deserts

U.S. Asylum Asked By Polish Diplomat

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Marek Korowicz, Polish diplomat who got his first look at America last Monday, is seeking political asylum here after a pre-dawn flight from his country's Communist-dominated United Nations delegation.

"Life in Poland was a nightmare," Korowicz said yesterday.

The graying, 50-year-old Korowicz left Polish U.N. headquarters Wednesday. Pretending to be working on a document in the early morning hours, he eluded armed guards and slipped out of his midtown hotel to telephone an old friend from the Polish underground.

Writes to U.N. Officials

Safe in the friend's home, Korowicz, first alternate of the Polish delegation to the U.N., wrote identical letters to Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, president of the U.N. General Assembly, and Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary general.

The letters said:

"I have the honor of bringing to your attention that I formally renounce my membership in the Polish delegation to the assembly of the United Nations.

"The members of the delegation, headed by Messrs. Naszkowski and Katz-Suchy, do not in any way represent either the Polish nation or the people. It is thus absolutely impossible for me to collaborate with these representatives—not of my beloved country but solely of the Soviet regime in Poland."

Korowicz, author of some 20 books and former professor of international law at the University of Krakow, said he is unmarried and has only distant relatives in Poland.

Last Thursday Korowicz sat as grim-faced as the rest of his delegation listening to a speech by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before the U. N. General Assembly.

Yesterday, Korowicz said he was deeply moved by Dulles' speech.

Later, Dulles smiled when asked for comment by newsmen, then quoted from his U.N. speech:

"Our hope is that the Soviet Communist leaders, before it is too late, will recognize that love of God, love of country and sense of human dignity always survive. Repressive measures inevitably lead to resentment and bitterness and perhaps something more."

Must Be Viewed Separately

Dulles added that American policy was in favor of granting asylum, but that each case must be considered separately and in conformity with the law.

Korowicz is the fourth Polish national to flee to the West in the past six months. Two Polish jet fliers and a Polish interpreter in Korea previously sought and gained asylum in the United States.

School Pupils Escape Injury In Area Crash

Twenty-seven Union County school children, passengers in a school bus colliding with an automobile, escaped injury in one of four traffic accidents investigated yesterday and early this morning by area authorities.

One of three accidents investigated by state highway patrolmen, the school bus-automobile collision occurred on a Union County road about eight-tenths of a mile north of Route 47.

George A. Speese, 55, of Delaware, driver of the automobile which was going north, received a bruised right shoulder and the bumper, grille, left fender and door of his automobile were moderately damaged, patrolmen said.

William Hagenlocker, 30, of Richwood, driver of the school bus which was going east and turning north, was given a suspended fine of $25 and costs by Richwood Mayor Nelson Blue on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Time of the accident was 3:55 p.m.

Vincent Sambito, 48, of Ledmister, Mass., was fined $15 and costs

Reds Attempt To Defame U.S. Court System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell said today there is a deliberate Communist campaign "to instill in our citizens contempt for our judicial process."

Contrasting the short cuts of "justice" behind the Iron Curtain with the American practice of insisting on defendants' rights, even though trials are delayed and technical points argued at length, the attorney general said the United States must never be tempted to curtail the safeguards.

Actually, he said, it is a prime objective of the Communists to goad the United States into just such action, so this might be used to further an over-all campaign to discredit the American way of life.

In an address prepared for the closing session of the National Conference on Citizenship, Brownell discussed the long series of trials in Soviet satellite countries of persons accused of crimes against the state. He said these had been marked by long secret detentions, exhaustive questionings in private, denials of bail, strange actions by defendants once they appeared in court, and the apparent lassitude of so-called defense attorneys.

Nobody Wants To Talk, U.N. Takes Day Off

UNITED NATION, N.Y. (AP) — United Nations delegates to the current General Assembly meeting took a day off today—because no one wanted to talk. The lull is due to last only for the weekend, however.

Russia's answer to United States overtures for global peace is expected by the middle of next week, when Assembly President Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit hopes the policy debates will be concluded. The organization of seven committees to tackle the Assembly's 72-item agenda also is due to be completed by that time.

Today's scheduled meeting was canceled by Mrs. Pandit after delegates still to voice their country's opinions on issues before the Assembly indicated they were not ready yet to speak.

A tentative schedule of speeches for Monday, however, lists El Salvador, Peru, Greece, Liberia and China. Tuesday's program now includes Cuba, Canada, Ecuador and Venezuela.

The Soviet speech, when it does come, is expected to couple some kind of a disarmament proposal with heavy emphasis on Soviet claims that Russian scientists have mastered the hydrogen bomb secret.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced last month that the Soviets had conducted atomic tests Aug. 12 that involved both fission — atomic — and thermonuclear reactions. Termonuclear is a term scientists often use to describe a hydrogen explosion.

Although there has been no indication of what any new Soviet disarmament proposals may involve, Western diplomats did not expect them to differ materially from previous Russian offers which the U.N. has rejected repeatedly.

Attendance Drive Opens Church's Fall Program

Taking as a theme, "The church bell is our symbol of freedom of worship-keep it ringing," the Prospect Street Methodist Church will open Sunday a fall program with a Victory and Rally celebration, with every member expected to be present, the Rally Day goal for the Church School hour is attendance of 400, and the Victory Sunday goal for worship hour following is 550.

This marks beginning of a campaign set for the remainder of the year which will stress the "need of loyalty on the part of every member, that with our presence and our gifts each Sunday God's work may be benefitted in our church, our city, and the world." At the close, special recognition and awards will be given to those who attend the worship services each Sunday through Dec. 27.

Congregational letters, pamphlets, and tracts have been sent to the members during the last month in preparation for Sunday's celebration. The victory observance at worship hour will be a unique service designed to unite all members to "experience together the glorious thrill that comes with the rededication of our lives to the ever advancing program of Christ's work at home and abroad." All members are requested to bring their Estimate of Sharing and Prayer cards. "After careful consideration and prayer, the cards are to be filled out in the way God moves people to do," the pastor, Rev. Fletcher E. Shoup, stated. The cards will then be placed on the communion table to be "dedicated to the Kingdom."

Special music will be by William Holloway who will sing "Beside Still Waters." For the convenience of parents, the nursery will be open during the worship service, it was announced.

First meeting of the Youth Fellowship for the fall will be held Sunday. Youth Choir rehearsal will be at 4:45 p.m., under direction of Mrs. Robert Rice. From 5 until 6, the church basement will be open for recreation, and at 6 a "snack supper" will be served, followed at 6:30 by Intermediate Fellowship program. The theme will be "Why Can't I Do as I Please?" led by Miss Barbara Calmer. For the Senior Fellowship program, to be led by Miss Virginia Wick, the theme will be "A New Look at Our yMYF." A combined vesper service of both groups will be at 7:15.

Theme for the midweek Spiritual Life Hour Wednesday night will be "The Religion of Israel." Thursday night, the MOH Class will meet.

Pastor To Be Honored

As a special tribute, the Trinity Baptist Church's congregation will honor the former pastor, Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, on Sunday morning. His birthday anniversary is today, and a shower of greetings has gone to him at his residence at 605 E. Church St. A "love offering" from his friends in the church will be received on Sunday and presented to him by a delegation of the members. He served as pastor of the church from December, 1928, to October, 1941.

Colored pictures portraying Bible scenes will be a feature of the evening worship service at Trinity Church, illustrating the theme of the sermon "Proving the Claims of Christ." Special music will be a vocal solo by I. H. Taylor.

Sunday Sermon Topics

First Presbyterian, "The Joyful Song."

Emanuel Lutheran, "There Remaineth Therefore a Rest to the People of God."

Epworth Methodist, "Sure Footed."

Calvary EUB, "Divine Dividends," and "Epitaph of a Pioneer."

Special Service Slated

Baptism of children will take place at the service at Emanuel Lutheran Church Sunday morning. Members of the Young People's Missionary Society will meet in the educational building at 8 p.m. Tuesday. The Women's Missionary Guild will meet in the educational building Thursday night.

Youths To Hold Service

Youth Day will be observed by Epworth Methodist Church at morning worship Sunday, and representatives of the Youth Department will hold a retreat at Camp Owens near Marion in the afternoon.

Following study in the Church School classes in the morning, the young people will sit with their families at the worship service, and at the close there will be special recognition of youth with invitation to take part in the afternoon rally with the assistance of adults who are interested in their program.

Music by the choir for the service will be the anthem, "Jesus Joy of Man's Desiring." Mrs. Thomas Ballinger will be pianist.

The retreat, with Youth Department officers, parents, teachers, and counselors, for planning the activities and experiences of the fall, will be built around the theme, "Life's Greatest Scrimmage." Time set for the event is 2:30 to 8:30, those attending to meet at "Our House," Epworth youth center, with picnic baskets for the family, and proceed to Camp Owens for a "get acquainted" period preceding at 1:30. Conference and recreation sessions will fill the remainder of the time.

Don Loudenslager, Youth Department president, heads the committee on arrangements, assisted by Diana Jones, Hank Rinnert, Reva Shifflet, Rebecca Lawson ,Rosamond Graham, Jim Wilson, Richard Parshall, Orland Beveridge, and Robert Bush, superintendent of the Youth Division, Miss Reta VanMeter, and Miss Margaret Huffman. Leaders in the program will include Don Loudenslager and Richard Lawrence, chairmen, Hank Rinnert, High School Council president, and Larry Henry, president of the Intermediates. Nearly 60 others in the youth cabinets will participate. Counselors for the groups include Miss Lela Brookshire, Ralph Simpson, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. Dorcas Shaffer, Howard Gilbert, John Lawrence, James Hill, Ray Eaton, Dr. R. E. Logsdon, Wayne Kuhn, Miss Mary Jo Stafford, Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, and Rev. and Mrs. Walter Eyster.

Organizations of the church meeting next week include the Susanna Wesley Service Guild Monday night, with potluck dinner at 6:30, Mrs. George Stafford entertaining. Circle 8 will be entertained by Mrs. William Guy Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Edwin Cheney will be hostess to the Wesleyan Service Guild Wednesday night. Groups meeting Thursday include Circle 6 at the church at noon for covered dish luncheon, in the afternoon, Circle 5, Mrs. J. H. Harmon hostess, Circle 2, Mrs. Grace Warner entertaining, and Circle 4, entertained by Mrs. W. H. Goodwin, and at night, Lucy Webb Hayes Circle with Miss Audrey Bolander.

More About Jesus

A military band leader turns gospel song composer

Strange that from an institution where men are trained in the art of war there should come two leading composers of Christian songs. But such is the case with Chester Pa's military academy. For it was here that R. Kelso Carter, author-composer of "Standing On the Promises," and Choir Leader-Composer John R. Sweney were once on the faculty.

In 1861, 24-year-old Music Instructor Sweney marched out of the academy at the head of the Delaware Regiment Band. The war over, Sweney came back to his alma mater and was awarded the degree of doctor of music.

But Band Leader Sweney saw in music something more uplifting and inspiring than a media for marching feet. In 1871 he turned from leading military bands to leading church choirs and music for revival campaigns.

At a camp meeting at Ocean Grove, N. J., in 1875, Song Leader Sweney met Shipbuilder Edgar Page Stites who was so inspired by the atmosphere of the place that he wrote a poem. Sweney set the poem to music. It is listed in hymnals under the title, "Beulah Land."

More about Jesus would I know,
More of His grace to others show;
More of His saving fullness see,
More of His love who died for me.

More about Jesus let me learn,
More of His holy will discern;
Spirit of God, my teacher be,
Showing the things of Christ to me.

More about Jesus; in His word,
Holding communion with my Lord;
Hearing His voice in every line,
Making each faithful saying mine.

More about Jesus on His throne,
Riches in glory all His own;
More of His kingdom's sure increase;
More of His coming, Prince of Peace.

(Chorus)
More, more about Jesus,
More, more about Jesus;
More of His saving fullness see,
More of His love who died for me.

In Philadelphia, just up the Delaware River from Chester, a school teacher cousin of Edgar Page Stites was confined to bed with a spinal ailment. Sweney called on the young woman, suggested she try writing poetry. He would set any suitable verses to music.

From the pen of invalid Eliza Hewett came "There Is Sunshine In My Soul" and Sweney set it to music. She wrote another and the one-time band leader wrote a tune that set the world to singing "Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown?" Maybe her useful occupation had something to do with her recovery. Anyway, Eliza Hewett recovered and spent the rest of her life writing song poems and teaching Sunday School classes in Philadelphia.

John R. Sweney wrote music for more than 1000 gospel songs and edited 60 song books. When he died at his home in West Chester, in 1899, the greatest of all gospel singers, Ira Sankey, came down from New York and sang "Beulah Land." Sankey might as well have sung this one. For had it not been for John R. Sweney's influence, Eliza Hewett might never have written this poem which he set to music.

Broadcast Scheduled

Members of the Maranatha Bible Church will present the second Bible Fellowship radio broadcast of a new series over Station WMRN Sunday at 10:15 p.m., with the pastor and director, Rev. Earl L. Holliday, speaking on "Jew, Gentile, Church of God." This is part of a study course, "Rightly Dividing the Word of Truth" from a 63-page booklet dealing with "essential salvation doctrines of the Bible." Offered in the course are 98 questions in 14 lessons, with each subject presented on succeeding Sunday nights. Certificates will be issued those completing the work. Good response was reported from the first broadcast last Sunday.

Morning Bible Fellowship broadcasts over Station WHKC, Columbus, by the Maranatha group are being continued each Sunday at 9:30. Musicians taking part in these programs include Misses Pattie Holliday, Marcia Johnson, Margie Griffith, Barbara Newsome, Vera Trent, and Dixie Piatt, Mrs. Avalyn Fogle, Gloyd Dearth, Vern Griffeth, Fred Peters of Ashland as music director and announcer, and Fred Blanton is an announcer.

Sunday at morning worship service of the church, the second in a series of messages from the book of Joshua will be given. Music will be by the Youth Choir and soloists. For the young people's meeting at 6:30 p.m., the subject will be "Victory in Christ." At evening worship, Mr. Peters will direct a "singspiration" for 20 minutes at 9 with vocal and instrumental numbers included, followed by the radio program. Response to the church building project was reported as gaining momentum, with repair work to begin in the near future and erection of an addition to the rear of the church.

Sermon Announced

The second in a new series of sermons for Wesley Methodist Church morning worship will be given Sunday by the pastor, Rev. W. Lincoln Stafford. General theme is "The Names of Jesus."

Activities of church organizations next week will include attendance by a Youth Fellowship delegation at a district meeting at Allentown Sunday. The group will meet at the church here at 1:15. Tuesday night, the Unity Bible Class will be entertained by Mrs. R. R. Thornberry. Guest Night will be held by the Far and Near Circle Monday night at the church. On Friday morning, the pastor will speak on the radio over Station WMRN for Morning Meditations. Plans are being made by the Youth Fellowship for conducting the evening worship service the following Sunday.

Youth Rallies To Begin

Arrangements are being made for beginning of the fall and winter Marion Youth for Christ monthly rallies on Saturday night next week at Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Featured will be a sound motion picture, "Betrayed," which presents "a true yet touching message for the youth of this generation." Rev. C. E. Hershey, Emmanuel Church pastor and Youth for Christ director, will be in charge and Rev. Wallace Ellis of West Jackson Union Baptist Church will direct the musical portion of the service.

EUB Meetings Planned

Two Evangelical United Brethren Churches here will be hosts to Marion Group meetings next week. Ministers of churches from the area will come for an evangelistic instruction session Monday at Oakland EUB Church. Calvary Church will have an all-day fall institute of the WSWS and Christian Service Guilds Wednesday, and youth rally will be held there that night.

The ministers will discuss the "larger evangelism" plans in operation in the Ohio-Sandusky Conference of the denomination this fall. This meeting will be under direction of Rev. A. E. Clark of the Salem Church near Marion, group leader. Host pastor is Rev H. V. Falor.

Mrs. Wesley Archibald, missionary returned from Brazil, will be guest speaker for the women's meeting Wednesday. Morning session will be at 9:30, and a covered dish dinner will be served at noon.

Following the youth rally at 7:30 p.m., the Calvary Youth Fellowship will be the host group for a social hour at the Parish House. Rev. Clyde Wendell is the host pastor.

Church Briefs

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, and will save them by the Lord their God, and will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, by horses, nor by horsemen" (Hosea 1:7).

When the Oakland EUB Brotherhood meets Tuesday night for a rabbit supper and meeting at the Parish House, officers will be elected. Guest speaker for the program will be Rev. Clyde Wendell of Calvary EUB Church in Marion. Time of the meeting will be 6:30. On Wednesday, women of the church will take part in the

Commandments Out of Date

A Sermonette

By REV. J. PAUL GOEBEL
Pastor of First Evangelical and Reformed Church

"Thou shalt . . . thou shalt not!" Exodus 20

Many moderns seem to think that the Ten Commandments are largely outmoded. They may have served a useful purpose among the early Hebrews but that was some 3,000 years ago, and in a primitive, pastoral society. But western civilization has so changed our way of life, they say, the modern psychology and sociology have thrown so much light on human behavior, that the Ten Commandments as handed down to us no longer apply. Either they should be thoroughly revised or frankly recognized as being out of date, for are they not largely dead letter anyway?

That kind of reasoning sounds modern, but is really as old as the hills—as old as the wilfulness of man. It is perfectly expressed in the popular song: "I want what I want when I want it." Those who hold to that philosophy usually lack the courage to accept the consequences of their actions.

The human wreckage all about us is eloquent testimony to the fact that the Ten Commandments cannot be gotten rid of by acting as if they did not exist. Those who do so, sooner or later are badly hurt. For the moral law is as basic to human happiness as are the laws of health. Many self-indulgent people ignore them, but as a rule end up in a heap. In like manner, many think they can break the Commandments with impunity, but succeed only in breaking themselves on the divine law, which is as immovable as the Rock of Ages.

In the motion picture, "The Ten Commandments," the above truth is unforgetably illustrated. The leading character is a modern building contractor who has skyrocketed to success but at the expense of his integrity. He reaches the pinacle of his career when he winns the contract for a great cathedral. In the picture one sees the structure rise majestically, a work of art and rare beauty. But, following a habit of long standing, the builder has instructed his workmen to mix an undue proportion of sand with the cement. When the cathedral is completed, the contractor's mother comes to visit her son. As he proudly shows her his masterpiece of construction, huge cracks begin to appear in its walls and the great church collapses, falling on his mother and causing her death.

The Bible calls him a fool who says in his heart, there is no God. No less a fool is the one who, while not expressly denying the existence of God, ignores his revealed will and breaks the moral law.

Those who doubt the validity of the Ten Commandments would do well to ponder Jesus' estimate of them: "If you would enter life, keep the Commandments," or that other ringing statement of His: "Think not that I have come to abolish the law and the prophets. I have come not to abolish them but to fulfill them."

Let us pray, O Lord, give us the courage to do Thy will, that we might know the greater liberty of the sons of God. Amen.

NAACP Lauds Race Relations Improvement

CINCINNATI (AP)—A picture of progress was painted today on the canvas of race relations at the Ohio convention of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

William Brooks of Columbus, president of the state group, said more and more Negroes and whites are working together and living in the same communities with harmony.

"When people work together and live near each other, they realize the so - called differences don't exist," he told a reporter. "The mixture has caused people to realize similarities are more important than the difference of skin."

The three-day convention opened last night.

NAMED JUDGE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Rep. John V. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga) yesterday was named a Cleveland municipal court judge by Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Corrigan succeeds the late Frank D. Celebrezze.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Overcome Moods

Some time ago, an attractive young woman came to see me. She was obviously distressed and broke into tears almost as soon as she began to speak. Her first words were that she was certain she had made a terrible mistake in her marriage. I prepared myself for the usual unhappy story.

DR. PEALE

"What seems to be the main difficulty between your husband and yourself?" I asked.

"He gets into moods," she complained.

"Moods?" I repeated.

"Yes, moods. Sometimes they last as long as a day or two."

"You can bring him out of them by studying him and employing loving strategies of which you are capable," I said. "God seems to have given to wives certain subtle skills in dealing with their husbands—I'm sure you know how to use these if you will be thoughtful and patient."

"Well, I was able to dispel his moods before our baby came, she confessed, "but now the baby seems never to be quiet and needs attention all the time. I get so tired that I just can't find the energy to handle the baby, my housework and my husband's moods, too."

IN MY MOST sympathetic manner, I said to her: "What you tell me is distressing but, of course, that isn't all the problem. How about the other woman?"

"Why, there is no other woman," she exclaimed in surprise.

"What? Not even a vague interest is some other woman?"

"Of course not". She was indignant now.

"Well, that's a relief, isn't it? Of course, he comes home drunk every night?"

"He does not! He doesn't drink at all!"

"Then he must gamble."

She shook her head

"Or stay out all night with the boys?"

"Oh, no, nothing like that," she told me "He comes home every night. His only trouble is moods."

"That's wonderful," I answered. "Let us pray and thank God that all we have to deal with is moods. You can't expect to get married and not have some problems. I know I'm often a problem to my wife Whenever two people try to live together, there will be problems. You should be grateful that yours is only moodiness."

THEN I WENT ON to say that the best way to attack moods is with love and prayer and lots of faith. She soon saw the relative simplicity of her problem and went away encouraged to believe that with God's help her husband's moods could be overcome. It wasn't long beore I heard from her that everything was much better.

These moody spells often result from suppressed anxieties. If you are anxious about something, scrape away all extraneous attitudes and get down to the core of your problem. Much anxiety comes from mental confusion. If you can get things straight in your mind and reduce your mass of worries to a simple problem like the young woman did, you'll find, probably, that things won't be as bad as they seem.

THERE IS A second method for overcoming moodiness. That is the practice of relaxation. A relaxed person avoids moodiness because he lives in a state of inner harmony. Keep relaxed, no matter what the tension Keep nonstressed, un-tensed. Tension and anxiety are almost synonymous. If you are anxious, you become tense; if you are tense you become anxious. They work together.

I have written a 40-page booklet entitled "You Can Relax." My readers may have it free of charge by writing me care of this newspaper.

The sure cure for moodiness is to seek quietness of body and mind. Try to find physical relaxation. And then, heal your mind by prayer. Believe that you will receive the peace of God which passeth understanding and you will overcome your moods.

Lew Wickersham

Back in 1780 a famous English philosopher made the above remark. It's so true in my line of work. The mechanics of any public auction sale are simple, but getting the top prices for a dozen or a hundred items, that's something that comes only through long, successful experience. Chi Rho, organization for junior high school age young people, will meet at 4 p.m., under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fout. The Christian Youth Fellowship for senior high school age will convene at 5:30 with Mr. and Mrs Harold VanGordon as the sponsors.

Observance of "Decision Day" will be marked by Fite Memorial Baptist Sunday School on Sunday morning, and Rev. Arthur Sengpiehl, Chicago evangelist, will give his two closing messages on Sunday. Members will attend the annual Marion Baptist Association meeting Wednesday and Thursday at Morral. The men and the youth groups will hold banquets on Wednesday and Thursday nights respectively. A missionary speaker will be heard by the women on Thursday afternoon. Junior High young people will attend a district jamboree Saturday at Bucyrus. The theme will be "Look, Listen, and Live," with the idea of a television program being featured.

New Church Here To Begin Services

A new church organized as an independent work in Marion, to be known at the Pentecostal Lighthouse Tabernacle, has been opened at 178 N. Main St. by Rev. Powell Salyer. He was formerly pastor, for about three and a half years, of the Pentecostal Church of Chist at Fountain St. In his new effort he will be assisted by Rev. Ervin Ratcliff of Norton, formerly of Paintsville, Ky. Rev Salyer came to Marion from South Charleston, O.

Services of the new congregation, open to the public, include Sunday School at 10 a.m. on Sundays, and at 7:45 p.m. on Thursday, Saturday, and Sunday nights The new group is composed of about 30 members.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD — Enrollment at the Claibourne-Richwood schools showed the largest increase to be in the lower elementary grades where 84 first graders and 49 kindergarteners were reported when school opened Plans were made for three sections of the first grade.

In the high school, 195 students enrolled during the first week Forty-one of this number come in from Jackson Township on tuition contract.

One additional teacher was added to the staff during the summer, bringing the faculty total to 29.

Hike in Wholesale Rates Requested By Ohio Fuel Gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ohio Fuel Gas Co., has asked the Federal Power Commission for higher rates to its wholesale customers.

The company filed a tariff increase request with the commission yesterday that would boost by 7.6 per cent its rate for gas to companies or municipal systems serving Lima, Lancaster, Bellefontaine, Delaware, Dayton, Cincinnati and 19 other wholesale customers.

A company representative said the increase would amount to a little over three cents a thousand cubic feet and would total about $1,400,000 a year.

Teenage Gangsters Being Investigated By Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Through public hearings from coast to coast investigating senators hoped today to rally a new long range drive against teenage gangsterism, drug addiction and other lawlessness

The special Senate judiciary subcommittee announced plans for hearings in possibly 20 cities, with precautions against subjecting youthful witnesses "to exploitation or public contempt"

Chairman Hendrickson (R-NJ) said the group will keep a sharp eye for evidence 'that certain adults may be stimulating gang delinquencies to pursue their own criminal ends"

The committee reported a 30 per cent rise in juvenile delinquency in the United States since 1948

Whether any of the hearings will be televised "and how to handle the matter of young offenders testimony to protect them from ruin of their future"—are matters the three subcommittee members said are to be decided after further study.

Hendrickson and Sens. Hennings (D-Mo) and Kefauver (D-Tenn) told newsmen closed-door testimony of young delinquents will "certainly be essential"

Upper Sandusky Man Killed in Train Mishap

UPPER SANDUSKY—A 34-year-old Upper Sandusky resident ended his life Friday evening by sitting in the path of an oncoming Pennsylvania freight train.

Edward Middleton, who lived on Hicks Rd. in Upper Sandusky, was struck by a local train at 6 30 Friday night. He was sitting directly in the path of the train

County coroner Dr B. H. Hathaway ruled the death a suicide He said the man had suffered a broken neck and fractured skull by the impact of the train.

Witnesses said they saw Middleton walking along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near Harrison Smith park about one-half hour before the train came through town.

The man was employed as a laborer at a local factory He is survived by his wife and four children.

No Substitute for Dissent

Those who expected the Democrats would tear one another apart when they met in Chicago last weekend saw, instead, a demonstration of amiability.

There will be a similar demonstration this weekend when Republican chairmen from 21 midwest and Rocky Mountain states meet in Chicago to play next year's congressional campaigns.

But behind these demonstrations lie all the perennial jealousies and frictions which keep political parties from growing smug The Democrats and Republicans are churning furiously beneath their surface appearances of amiability. Dissent is the source of political vitality.

Occasionally the sub-surface activity is glimpsed for an instant, as in the Martin Durkin affair, the clash between the Dewey and Taft factions at the Republican convention in 1952, the Democrats' savage fight over the loyalty pledge in their 1952 convention, or the subsequent revolt of the Solid South in that year's presidential election.

It is a paradox that these grim struggles which threaten to wreck the parties should be the source of their attractiveness to voters — the thing that keeps the parties from growing stale.

There also is the threat of a third party which would enlist the dissidents from the two major parties, if they ever could get together.

And there is the presence in each party of dissidents from the current propositions of the other party. Democrats helped to put Dwight Eisenhower into office as a Republican presidential nominee, just as Republicans once helped to put Franklin Roosevelt into office as a Democratic presidential nominee.

Time runs on and all things change — becoming the same as they were before. It is now the Democrats who are out and want in and the Republicans who are in and want to stay in

It takes a lot of arguing to run a political system that comes reasonably close to giving voters what they want.

Big-Wind Theory of Government

One of the oldest tricks in the book is being played on Secretary of Agriculture Benson. A rumor is being circulated that he is going to leave President Eisenhower's cabinet in disgrace because he hasn't solved the farm problem in eight months.

Under the big-wind theory of government, the politicians of whichever party is out of power blow off their mouths about the failure of the politicians in power to solve this perennial problem and farmers believe everything they say. The farm vote is theoretically blown hither and yon like a feather.

Perhaps farmers are actually that susceptible to political hot air, though they showed signs in November, 1952, of being tired of it. Certainly the best-informed farmers have found out after many years of listening to politicians bellow about the farm problem that politicians never will solve it.

If they ever did solve it by some accidental mischange, what would they bellow about when soliciting the political support of farmers?

Actually, the farm problem can't be solved; it can only be handled from year to year in terms of what it has been made by weather, methods of agriculture and the thinking of millions of individual farmers.

It is a problem of supply and demand, of balance between production and consumption. It is the same problem that plagues the automobile industry, which either is producing more cars than it can sell or isn't producing enough to keep consumers happy.

Secretary Benson never has claimed he can solve the farm problem He never has claimed he knows any more about it than his predecessors His only claim is that farmers, themselves, should know more about it than big-wind experts who exploit their discontent.

He thinks farmers should be encouraged to recover some of the independence they have sacrificed to politicians—and it is for this heresay, apparently, that his political critics are attacking him.

Comment Would Be Superfluous

Remember the "flying saucers" which at various times have bemused millions of us, despite official denials that such a thing could exist?

At a recent meeting in Toronto a top-flight team of aviation experts from the United States heard Canadian research and defense experts talk about Canada's super-secret dish-shaped fighter plane.

In a dispatch to The New York Times, these characteristics of the Canadian craft were mentioned Ability to rise vertically, to hover, to dart, to reach 1,500 miles an hour.

Oh yes. . . it is a jet-powered, saucer-shaped craft whose pilot sits in the middle, with the rest of the plane revolving about him

All comment would be superfluous. Word from the U S Air Force is being awaited in view of the fact it had been so all-fired sure that nothing of this nature ever did or ever could exist

MacLean Episode

By David Lawrence

Britain's Intelligence Reputation at Stake

Donald MacLean—A British official known among his friends as a Communist—in some strange way eluded the British Security Service in May 1951 and disappeared behind the Iron Curtain bearing confidential information he had been accumulating from his intimate contacts with the governments of the United States and Great Britain.

Now his American-born wife has disappeared under circumstances equally mysterious, and the world is wondering whether the British Security Service fell down again or whether perhaps it now will be in the position to confound its critics by exposing the whole story and revealing that perhaps it has known all along what was going on.

The latter theory is one that naturally arises wishfully among those familiar with intelligence work.

It would be incredible if the British Security Service, knowing how important it was to obtain every scrap of information about the whereabouts of MacLean and his associate, Guy Burgess, would fail to shadow the family in Switzerland and keep in touch with everyone who might seek to talk with the wife of the missing diplomat.

Certainly if the intelligence agents have been and are still on the job, it may be days before they will discover the place where MacLean and Burgess have been hiding.

There would certainly have been no point in intercepting Mrs. MacLean but would be shrewd rather to maintain uninterrupted surveillance until it could be determined exactly where she was headed.

Why is the whole episode important? It's because Donald MacLean served as a secretary of the British embassy in Washington along with another secretary, Guy Burgess, and the main job of MacLean was to keep in touch with atomic energy developments here.

He was secretary of a committee of the Allies, including the British government, and was therefore accepted and trusted as a thoroughly reliable person.

When MacLean disappeared and one of the reporters here told former Secretary of State Acheson about it, the latter is reported to have exclaimed: "My God he knew everything!"

MacLean not only knew about atomic energy matters when he was in America, but at the time of his disappearance he had been given charge of the so - called "American desk" in the British Foreign Office in London.

This is the desk over which flows daily all the confidential messages from diplomatic representatives of Great Britain in the United States.

Naturally at that time there were very secret exchanges between our State Department and Great Britain relative to plans for ending the Korean War, and there were also objections by the British to the continuance of the conflict if it involved extension of hostilities into Manchuria.

Whatever the information was that the British government had from its close friend and ally, the United States, Donald MacLean was in a position to carry to the Communists.

There are various rumors that the Federal Bureau of Investigation here originally had a tip on MacLean's activities and had so notified the British government and that the British security authorities were about to pounce on MacLean and Burgess just as they made their getaway.

Both MacLean and Burgess were college men and were known as brilliant "intellectuals" in literary circles. Their sympathies for communist doctrine were not difficult to determine.

The British Foreign office, which was pooh-poohing American concern over the Alger Hiss case and the infiltration of other Communists in the State department, didn't seem to be vigilant in doing a check-up job in the matter of loyalty—any more than it had been when "clearing" Klaus Fuchs for admission to the American atomic energy project.

Whether Mrs Maclean has gone to see her husband voluntarily or involuntarily, the fact remains that the oft - distributed story from some London sources that MacLean and Burgess had been somehow "liquidated" doesn't seem plausible now any more than the first unofficial intimation that they had just gone on a "holiday binge."

It will be important for the British Security Service to re-establish faith in its efficiency by getting all the facts, and maybe that's what they have been doing these last few days and some day will reveal.

American officials are much concerned because again the subject of an exchange of atomic secrets with Britain is up for consideration, and Congress is not likely to amend existing law to provide a freer interchange if British security methods are believed to be lax.

Geniuses of the Feather

By TRUMAN TWILL

Night before last, this favorite fellow who comes to our house via newsprint had the family in stitches. He was as funny as another of our favorite fellows who comes via glossy stock in a weekly magazine.

They make us feel as good as our favorite comedians on television, some of whom also were favorites on radio—and still are for those who don't have television.

No one has any heartier welcome in our house than someone who enters with the light touch. There can be strong differences of opinion about what makes people laugh and what people should think is funny. But there can be no difference of opinion about the need for humor.

Humor is an imperative necessity.

It's a matter of balance between dark and light, sweet and sour, bitter and bland. While there may be no more bitterness on earth per million persons than there ever was, it's distributed on international hookups these days.

So is lugubriousness, the dark, the fearful, the sour and all else that distorts the mind, ulcerates the stomach and feeds the blazing little fires of hatred keep threatening to explode into giant conflagrations.

No one needs to apologize for humor It gives savor to knowledge. It is the spice that points up the taste of life and keeps life from becoming an indigestible lump of gristle.

Yet the tendency is to keep neglecting the spice because it seems somehow to be less important than the bulkier commodities—the fat, the raw meat, the cabbage and the apple sauce.

This is a modest tribute to all the titillators—all the geniuses who know how to make us chuckle by letting us see how absurd we are We forgive them for holding up a crooked mirror to emphasize what we sober-sidedly think of as merely our "peculiarities."

They should be on international hookups too

The rarest privilege of all, because only a genius can perform it, is to chase away the sour, miasmic forebodings which come rolling out of the fevered imaginations of men who have lived in fear and hatred so long they enjoy lurking under rocks and peering out only when it's raining.

Visitors who come to our house via paper and electronics with good will as their purpose and laughter as their means are doubly welcome.

They are also doubly rare because they are being swamped by viewers with alarm, groaners, mopers, teeth-gnashers, sackcloth wearers, lamenters, chronic bellyachers and spoilsports.

Keep tickling us, geniuses of the feather. There's never any scarcity of people who will keep swamping us with the sour muck of gloom fear and despair.

A large two and one-half story mill was erected in Montgomery Township by Lewis Tophff in 1845. It contained two run of buhrs and cost about $1,500. Shortly after the completion of the mill, a carding machine was added to the upper story and was run in connection with the mill until 1851 when the building was abandoned. The mill was used as a place for religious worship by the early settlers.

Who Will Decide Future A-Bomb Use

By Michael Amrine

WASHINGTON

A prominent playwright of Japan, Juro Miyoshi, has asked in an influential magazine, Central Review, a question addressed "To All Americans."

This spokesman for the first country ever to be atomically bombed asks for some one to tell him who made the original decision to drop the bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and whether army officers might make a similar decision in the future.

His question, in his own words, is as follows:

"I do not think that you, Americans, are bellicose anymore than the Russians are. Nevertheless, it is possible that you two will fight in the future.

"Should war break out between you, it is quite likely that you will use A-and H-bombs and various other horrible weapons.

"In such a case, according to what procedure will you decide to use them? We want to know, and I think we have te right to know. As a matter of fact, it is necessary for you, too to know."

"Who or what organization is vested with the authority to decide the use of A-weapons and in what cases?

"I do not think that all Americans approved the dropping of A-bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Probably the Joint Chiefs of Staff decided on the plan and, after getting the signature of President Truman, ordered the Army to execute it."

Miyoshi says that he has never received an answer to this question from America.

Since he states in the Central Review that his question he has held back for eight years because "the question might displease" Americans, and he very courteously states he has no intention of displeasing them, it would seem he is entitled to an answer.

Here is an answer based on talks with the appropriate government officials and from the historical record.

Dear Mr. Miyoshi:

The answer to the question of who decides upon use of the bomb is simple This is a presidential decision.

Mr. Truman has said several times that the decision to drop the first bombs was his decision and his alone, and it has since been established in several other ways that this is not a decision merely for the military, nor is it considered merely a question of using a weapon.

In the case of the first bombs, President Truman consulted at length with military and civil advisers. Today a president would certainly consult with his secretary of defense, but even more with his Cabinet and with the National Security Council, which is both a civil and a military body.

The importance of the decision to drop an atomic bomb is taken with the utmost seriousness here, and you may not realize that after the war national church and educational groups combined with scientists to fight for a law which placed atomic energy development under civilian control.

The intention of that law, as was well understood by Congress, was to insure that peaceful applications of atomic energy were not smothered by military considerations; another purpose was to see that the military would not feel that they could do anything they liked with this weapon

The act even provides that no atomic bombs are to be given to the custody of the Army or Navy except by express order of the president.

The bomb tests in Nevada are generally civilian tests; where the military have possession of bombs it is only by direction of the White House.

Under President Eisenhower one might think there would be a more military coloration of the government, but in fact the civilian heads of the defense agencies have recently been given a great deal more power over their generals and admirals.

Eisenhower himself years ago spoke emphatically in favor of taking the atomic project from the Army and giving it to a civilian commission.

It is a very curious thing to many that our largest bomb - production business is not managed by the Army.

It is a reflection of American concern that a weapon so revolutionary, which has such social and political and ethical consequences, should not be considered merely a superexplosive.

President Truman had been advised that a million persons, including hundreds of thousands of Japanese, would die in our planned invasion of Japan. Now we fear that millions of Americans as well as millions in other countries, might die if some country touched off an atomic war.

It may be that we made a tragic mistake with the first bombs, and that we or another country may make another tragic mistake in the future. But I do not think it will be made because of an irresponsible military leadership in our government

With appreciation of your restraint in asking your questions, and a belief that most Americans share my concern and horror about the atomic bomb, I am

Sincerely yours for genuine peace,

New Map of Brain Charted

By THOMAS R. HENRY

WASHINGTON

A new "map of the brain" is being prepared by an eminent German brain surgeon under a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

A picture of a human brain looks something like a physical map of a continent, with mountain ranges, deep valleys and plains.

Following this comparison, the top of the brain, or cerebral cortex, in which all higher mental activities take place, still is a sparsely explored continent. Still less is known about the functions of specific areas of brain tissue underneath

Under the foundation grant, Dr George Schaltenbrand of the University of Wurzburg, in collaboration with Dr Percival Bailey of the University of Illinois, is assembling an correlating everything known in the world about the functions of any particular brain area.

Such a map has become of great importance in connection with a new brain-surgery technique under rapid development.

This technique allows a surgeon, using quite specialized instruments to place electrodes accurately in the deep structures of the brain, the only necessary incision being the small hole through which the electrode needle passes

Once placed, the electrodes may be used either to record electrical activity or specific brain areas or to destroy small, localized groups of cells or nerve tracts. It no longer is necessary to make a damaging, probably crippling, incision through the cerebral cortex

Use of the technique in man, however, is quite limited because of the lack of accurate maps showing the underlying structures and their functions, together with their location with respect to landmarks on the top of the brain.

Under another foundation grant, Dr. Hadinrich Waelsch of Columbia University is studying the chemistry, with respect to brain function, of two amino acids, glutamic acid and glutamine. Glutamic acid is one of the few amino acids which seem to take part in energy changes in the nervous system

Recent work suggests that the two substances may be involved in the synthesis of the special protein substances which make up nerve cells.

Opium Trade Heavy

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—Millions of dollars worth of opium is smuggled into Malaya by large, well-organized rings.

Sinapore in the south and Penang Island in the north are the "reservoirs" piping the contraband into Malayan towns, the Customs Central Information Office, set up to gather intelligence about the trade, has found.

A. W.S. Sim, chief of the new office, said a blacklist of more than 8,000 persons believed engaged directly or indirectly in opium smuggling has been compiled. Sim said Customsmen seized five tons of opium worth $2,250,000 in 1952

He Was Loaded

ST. PAUL (AP)—Police noticed that the prisoner's pockets bulged a little when he was brought to headquarters after being arrested on a drunk charge

Here's what they found in the pockets:

Four pairs of glasses, a dozen bottle openers, six combs, a watch, six pairs of gloves, six pairs of socks, five razors, four pipes, six handkerchiefs, 25 pencils and crayons, a glass cutter, two wallets, and a tennis ball.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Proposition Rejected

If Chou En-lai, Red Chinese foreign minister had composed a note in the Hans Christian Anderson Wolf - Versus - Red-Riding-Hood matter.)

Gentlemen:

My government has considered your proposals for a meeting on the peaceful settlement of all issues arising from the war between the big bad wolf on one side and grandmothers, granddaughters and rescue parties of woodsmen on the other.

I.—The proposition is rejected. No discussion can be tolerated at which the big bad wolf is not invited to attend as a neutral.

II.—The very idea of discussions between Little Red Riding Hood and her rescuers on one side, and the wolf that got into the cottage on the other, to determine what happened and how to avoid future trouble is based on a false premise

The whole world knows that Grandma was the aggressor. She was flying her four-poster twin-motor bed over a prohibited area at the time, in a capitalistic plot.

-:-

III.—The fact Little Red Riding Hood arrived at the cottage while a wolf was there clearly proves to all fair-minded lovers of peace that this constituted a planned interference and conspiratorial collusion, masterminded by warmongers and foes of a true democracy.

IV.—The charge that Grandma was devoured by the wolf cannot be accepted. We admit Grandma disappeared If she was devoured she was devoured by John Foster Dulles.

There is every reason to believe, however, that Grandma willingly abandoned the orbit of free grandmothers and willingly joined the Grandma-Wolf Axis.

V.—The claim that the wolf was wearing Grandma's nightgown and nightcap when her granddaughter arrived has not been supported by a two-thirds vote, and the allegation was made in violation of procedural rules.

Even were it true, it could not be granted that Grandma had been eaten If a wolf chooses to show up in a nightgown it is its own right as a sovereign wolf.

VI.—The suggestion that the woodsmen who heard screams and ran to the alleged rescue of the grandchild could, with the grand daughter, give a true picture of events is absurd.

A correct story can be obtained only in a round-table discussion in which the chief participants are the wolf directly concerned and all its friends the world over.

Fair and impartial delegates are essential and we suggest as suitable appointees Bluebeard, the Red Queen, Cinderella's wicked stepmother, the Knave of Hearts, the Walrus and Tweedledum & Tweedledee.

VII.—We further suggest that full participation be permitted to the League Opposed to Carrying Basket Lunches to Grandmothers, the Union for Unlocked Cabin Doors and the World Anti-Granddaughter Federation. It is only thus that the conference can proceed in the harmonious atmosphere essential to a peaceful settlement.

VIII.—In conclusion it must be noted that big bad wolves are not belligerent and that they have consistently been leaders in all efforts for peace and better understandings. This is a fact not to be distorted. What's new with you?

Strong Harding Defense Whips Columbus West 6-0

Snouffer Intercepts Pass To Set Up TD by Ballinger

By JOHN SHORT
Marion Star Sports Editor

Harding's Presidents hung up a 6-0 verdict in their gridiron opener last night at Columbus West. It marked the first time since 1948 the Cowboys had been blanked in a football contest. That whitewashing was also applied by the locals 20-0.

The teams slugged it out in a scoreless tie for the first quarter. On the third play of the second period, Joe Snouffer pulled in a West pass at the Harding 30 and scooted back to the 41. That set up the only score of the game.

Cowboys Threaten

The Presidents were forced to dig deep in their own territory in the fading minutes of the game. The Cowboys were in a threatening position throughout the final stanza. With 6 and a half minutes to play, the Prexie defense was called on to stop the aerial attack of the host team It responded with flying colors. Fred Price and Doug Bibler kept the receivers covered and at least on three occasions leaped high to bat down passes after the receiver had gotten behind them.

West intercepted a Harding pass and returned to the 37 .Four plays later, the Harding defenders had driven them back to the 43. Bob Kern punted into the end zone and with 5 09 remaining, Harding fans relaxed.

On the first play, the ball was knocked from Gary Ballinger's hands and West recovered at the 20 with 4 50 to go. The Prexy defense again pushed the Cowboys back and Harding took over on downs at the 39 with three minutes to play

First Down On Pass

A screen pass from Larry Nafzger to Doug Cole gained 29 yards and gave the home team a first down at the Harding 38 with a minute and a half to go. Cole carried to the 11 on a reverse and two line plays later to the seven. A pass fell incomplete in the end zone and the Prexies took over. One sneak by Quarterback Don Schweinfurth run out the clock

Harding's only score was made when Ballinger plunged over from the one-yard stripe to climax a 60-yard drive by the Prexies. The drive was started by Snouffer's pass interception Ballinger, Chet King, Joe Albnack and Doug Bibler alternated in carrying the ball. Ballinger hit paydirt with a smash through the line. Gene Armstrong's attempt to convert was a little low.

Stadium Packed

Magley Stadium was packed for the opening tilt and all the fans were talking about the defensive work of Pete Howison's Prexies Three bad breaks had set them back in their own territory and three times, the defenders pushed the Cowboys back.

Harding had watched the West team turn a blocked punt and a fumble into first downs within 30 yards of their goal in the last period but allowed no score. One five-yard penalty which kept Harding from a first down was a mistake, officials admitted after the game Howison had been using Schweinfurther and Price to carry plays into the game. Price, after one play, started from the field but was motioned back by Pete One official called a delaying penalty when he thought Price was an illegal substitution.

Game Sidelights

Homer Huffman's Harding High School band made its first road appearance of the season. It entertained the crowd during half time ceremonies. Mothers of the host gridders were guests of honor during the program and were serenaded by the West band.

Mac Pemberton, popular coach of West inhabits the pressbox during West's home games. He sweated through the game last night and watched his team's scoring streak end. Mac and Pete Howison are close friends.

—:—

Bowling Green had two scouts in the pressbox for the Prexy opener. They predicted a rough evening here next Friday for the Bobcats. Harding and BG will open the Buckeye League campaign here.

SIGN NEW CONTRACTS

NEW YORK (AP) — The most recent bulletin from Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick's office shows that pitcher Joe Presko of the St. Louis Cardinals and outfielder Jim Piersall of the Boston Red Sox signed new 1953 contracts Usually new contracts mean one thing —a pay raise.

St. Mary Opens Grid Campaign Here Tonight

TURNING DOWN some 10,000 fans who have mailed in checks is enough to drive any business manager a bit dizzy, and Harold Parrott, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is no exception. Here he is pictured swamped with orders for seats that don't exist because Ebbets Field is sold out for World Series Games which will be played there.

Backfield Still Big Question; 3 On Injury List

St. Marys' backfield for tonight's regular football season opener against Cardington at the stadium is a question mark.

Three of Coach Ray Robbins' veteran halfbacks are nursing injuries but Ray hopes they will be ready for the Mid-Ohio Conference opener.

Ted Kilbury, who suffered a concussion from an injury in the Fostoria preview last week, has attended the Irish practices but has not dressed or drilled since the injury on advice from the doctor. Ray said he would probably be out this week.

Mike Anderson is suffering from a badly bruised toe and Butch Merchant is shaking off the effects of a pulled shoulder muscle. Ray said there was a possibility that both may play tonight. Anderson suffered his injury in scrimmage Monday. He has been to practices but has trouble wearing a football shoe over the toe and hasn't been practicing.

Partial Line Up Named

Two backfield slots are assured. Roger Michell will operate at quarterback and Larry Ryan will run from the fullback post. Ray said John Messenger would probably start at one of the halfback spots with one of the three injured quarters starting at the other.

The locals went through scrimmages the first part of the week but tapered off when bumps, bruises and minor injuries began popping up. Ray has also been polishing the Irish on offense and defense as well as running his team against Cardington's type of offense

Other starters for St. Mary will be Pat O'Connor and Don Shoemaker at the ends; John Kelly and Ed Quinn at the tackles; Larry Ballenger and Bob Campton at the guards; and Jack Schnitzler at center.

Irish Outweighed

As in their abbreviated preview game with Fostoria High School last week, the Irish will be heavily outweighed by the visitors who have three gridders scaling over and near the 200 pound mark. Last week, however, the locals downed Fostoria, 7-6 despite the weight handicap.

While Cardington's line is nearly all veteran players, their backfield is without a letterman. Cardington, which tallied 7-2 last season and won the Mid-Buckeye League title, is under a freshman coach this year, Ed Wolfe, formerly of Waynesfield High School.

This year marks the debut of the Mid-Ohio Conference, formed last winter by representatives of area Class B schools. Also in the league are Richwood, Elm Valley and Mt. Gilead.

Weight Problem Worries Lopez

Cuban Kid Whips Basilio, May Be Last Title Defense

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Cuban Kid Gavilan may never again fight as world welterweight champion.

Alarmed at the champ's weight making troubles for last night's split decision victory over gamester Carmen Basilio, Manager Angel Lopez plans to take Gavilan to a doctor for a check-up next week. He wants to know if the champ is undermining his health by trying to scale down to 147 pounds.

"If you can't make the weight, you have to give it up," said Lopez

Gavilan is supposed to defend his welter crown against Johnny Bratton within 60 days but that looks doubtful now He is much more interested in the winner of the Oct. 21 Turpin-Olson scrap for the middleweight title.

Basilio, a courageous little fellow from nearby Canostota who put up a whale of a fight in flooring Gavilan, thought the champ looked bad. Until they announced the decision, amidst a storm of boos, he thought he already had ended Gavilan's reign.

"I licked him I licked him good," he insisted in his dressing room.

From the moment Basilio dropped Gavilan with a left hook early in the second round, it was an interesting fight. Basilio, fighting more cautiously than against Billy Graham, tried to conserve his energy for the 15-round route. When Gavilan flurried, he flurried with him, but he couldn't match Gavilan's effective left jab that closed his left eye to a slit from the eighth on.

The two New York officials, Referee George Walsh and Judge Harold Barnes, voted for Gavilan to a din of boos from a partisan crowd of 7,103 paying a gross gate of $74,317 for central New York's first world title fight. Jack Kimball, the lone Syracuse judge, gave it to Basilio 7-5-3 Walsh scored 8-6-1 and Barnes 7-6-2. The Associated Press card was all even 6-6-3.

Morey, Littler Meet in Golf Tourney Final

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A duel between the buzz saw and the buzzing head marked the final of the 53rd National Amateur Golf Championship today, but the spectators, sated with upsets through a long week, had the satisfaction of knowing that the best golfers were still in the running.

The "buzz saw' tag was hung on Gene Littler, the stubby Navy airman from La Jolla, Calif., by the youngster he chopped to bits in the semi-finals yesterday, Bruce Cudd. Dour faced Dale Morey of Indianapolis has been plagued by the buzzing head all through the tournament—the effect of a severe cold he picked up Sunday.

Cudd, 20-year-old sophomore from Portland, Ore., University, saw Littler give him an unmerciful 10 and 8 beating in the 36-hole semi-windup.

Morey, who has been dosing himself at intervals with various cold cures, figured his steady performance in an easy 5 and 4 victory over another college boy, 21-year-old Don Albert of Purdue and Alliance, Ohio, was due partly to his not taking so much medicine.

Five Others on List

20-Game Winners' Ranks May Be Joined by Parnell

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

Mel Parnell, the Boston lefthander who won 25 games in 1949 and who has slipped a little each year since, has a chance to climb back into the 20 game circle again this year, maybe today.

Parnell drew the starting assignment for the Red Sox in the first game of a weekend set of three with the champion New York Yankees in Beantown. Up to today he had won 19 games and lost eight Only two American Leaguers had won more.

So far this season five pitchers—Bob Porterfield of Washington, Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Carl Erskine of Brooklyn—have reached the 20 game mark.

Aside from Parnell the only hopefuls with a reasonable chance of joining these five are Virgil Trucks (19-10) of the Chicago White Sox and Harvey Haddix (18-9), who is in his first full season with the St. Louis Cardinals.

With only a week to go time appears to have run out on such 20-game stars of a year ago as Early Wynn and Mike Garcia of Cleveland such early season prospects as Billy Pierce of the White Sox and Gerry Staley of the Cardinals.

In the American League a year ago Cleveland presented three 20-game winners — Lemon (22-11), Wynn (23-12) and Garcia (22-11). They were joined by Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics, who led the bunch with 24-7, and Allie Reynolds of the Yanks with 20-8. This season Wynn is 17-12, Garcia 17-9 Shantz, plagued by arm trouble is only 5-8, and Reynolds, converted to a mid-season relief specialist, has a 17-7 record.

Yesterday was a day off for all 16 teams. The White Sox and the Browns continue to rest today but there are five National League games scheduled and three American League affairs.

In addition to the Yanks at Boston, Washington is at Philadelphia and Cleveland at Detroit. Brooklyn entertains Philadelphia, Pittsburgh visits the New York Giants for a pair, Cincinnati is at Milwaukee and Chicago plays tonight in St. Louis.

Waldo Bows 27-19 In Gridiron Opener

Johnsville downed Waldo 27-19 in the Double-M Six-Man Football League opener for both at Johnsville Friday night.

Waldo kept pace with the home team for three quarters, the score tied at 19-19, but Johnsville added eight points in the final period for the victory. Each team scored a touchdown in each of the first three periods, with Waldo converting in the third and Johnsville in the second, to lead 13-12 at the half

George Yake took a pass for one of the Waldo scores. Don Yake returned a punt for another and Keith Augenstein ran over from inside the ten for the other. Augenstein converted once.

Waldo is at LaRue for another Double-M league game next Friday. Last night's game marked Waldo's debut in the football circuit Ralph Weber is coach.

Richwood Nips Elm Valley 12-0

Richwood downed Elm Valley 12-0 at Ashley Friday night as both teams opened the Mid-Ohio Conference season.

The win gave the Richwood squad temporary possession of top spot in the new league, formed last winter by five area Class B schools. Winner of tonight's game between St. Mary and Cardington will share top spot with Richwood

Grid Brownies Favored To Win Game With Green Bay Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Although the Cleveland Browns are favored by 7½ points and it's only an exhibition, Coach Paul Brown says his club will "go all out to win" here tonight against the Green Bay Packers.

A week from tomorrow the National Football League season begins, and the Browns' first opponent will be the same Green Bay club, in Milwaukee

"There's good psychology in beating a team," Brown said yesterday. "If we can do it Saturday night, I figure our chances will be that much better next week when it counts We won't be covering up anything, but will go all out to win"

The Browns have had a better exhibition season than the Packers. Cleveland has won from San Francisco, Baltimore and the Chicago Bears, dropped one to Los Angeles, and played a 24-24 tie with the champion Detroit Tigers. Green Bay won its first exhibition game from the New York Giants, and then dropped three straight to the Cardinals, Washington and Pittsburgh.

The two teams have met twice before Cleveland took an exhibition game decision, 38-7, in 1950, and last year the Browns won a close one during the league season, 21-14.

Brown remarked in a luncheon speech yesterday that the league competition is so tough he would settle right now for the record of nine wins and three losses.

Utica Scores 19-8 Over Mt. Gilead In LeagueOpener

MT. GILEAD—Utica scored on the second offensive play of the game and went on to down Mt. Gilead 19-8 in the season opener for both at Utica Friday night.

The early score came on a 20-yard pass from Larry Davis, quarterback, to Frank Waters, halfback, who ran the remaining 20 yards to paydirt

Arck went around end for two yards and Utica's second score in the second period following recovery of a Mt. Gilead fumble at its 30 yard stripe

The Davis to Waters combination clicked for another score in the third stanza Davis passed 15 yards to Waters who ran ten more yards for the final Utica tally

Mt Gilead came back in the fourth period to score its eight points. First scoring was a safety, which resulted from a bad pass from center, early in the period, at the 19 The ball soared over Davis' outstretched hands and on into the end zone where he was forced to fall on it.

Then a Mt. Gilead passing attack, featuring throws from Ted Moody to Gene Brush, took the ball 35 yards to Utica's ten yard line Moments later .Moody went around right end for four yards and Mt. Gilead's only touchdown of the game.

Elm Valley comes here Friday.

Washington C. H. Dropped in Opener

By The Associated Press

The 1953 high school football season got rolling in Ohio last night, and one of the top-ranked teams of last year was beaten on opening night

Washington Court House ranked fifth by The Associated Press last year, was dumped by Columbus Linden McKinley, 34-12 It was the first loss in 28 games, covering a three-year-span, for Washington Court House.

Other top-ranked teams of 1952 fared better.

Massillon, No. 1, blanked Akron Garfield 39-0 Springfield, second in 1952, defeated Dayton Stivers 37-6. Cincinnati Purcell, third, defeated Newport (Ky.) Catholic 20-0.

Middletown, eighth in last year's ratings, downed Dayton Dunbar 26-2 Van Wert, ninth, defeated Bryan 26-7.

MOODY HITS THE DECK. Alan Moody, his mouthpiece flying out, falls to the canvas in knockdown in seventh round of his Chicago welterweight bout with Del Flanagan (left) of St. Paul, Minn. He took a mandatory count of eight, rose, and was knocked out in 2 39 of the same round. Moody is from Robbins, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

Bucyrus Wins 8-6 On Safety in 4th

BUCYRUS—A safety in the closing minute of the game gave Bucyrus an 8-6 win as it opened its football season at Tiffin Columbian Friday night.

Both teams scored in the opening period and the score remained tied until a Tiffin back was tackled attempting to pass from his own end zone with 65 seconds left in the game

Bucyrus drew first blood with a score midway in the first quarter. Frank Barth, quarterback, went over from the nine to climax the drive

Columbian took the kick-off and went 75 yards to tie the score. Halfback Cecil Pryor ran over from the 13 yard stripe.

The locals entertain Norwalk here Friday in a Northern Ohio League contest

The Marion Harding Booster Club will meet at 8 p m. Monday in the speech room of Marion Harding High School. The meeting is open to the public.

Galion Belted 27-0 By Tiffin Calvert

GALION, Sept 19 — The 1953 football season was launched by the Galion High School Tigers here Friday. The Tigers lost to Tiffin Calvert 27-0.

Jim Rochester, Tiffin, right end, intercepted a pass on the Galion 33-yeard line in the first period and ran for the touchdown. The extra point was kicked by David Dow, halfback

Again in the first quarter Rochester took a pass in Galion's end zone for a touchdown and Dow's kick was good

In the third period, Dennis Breidinger, fullback, scored for Tiffin when he plunged over from the one-yard line and Dow's kick was good again. Dow made the touchdown in the third period on a Galion fumble. His kick was unsuccessful.

In the last quarter Galion's Ed Herr, tackle was injured. He was taken to City Hospital in an ambulance for X-ray and treatment for what looked like a fractured ankle.

Niles Man Indicted In Woman's Slaying

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A first degree murder indictment for a slaying in March 1939, was returned yesterday by the Trumbull County grand jury against Thomas (Chippy) Mango of Niles

He is accused of killing Mary Flask in front of a Niles night club. Mango was arrested in Boston early this year

Kenton Wildcats Down Lima 20-6 In League Opener

KENTON—George Keel's Kenton's Wildcats overcame an early Lima Shawnee lead to defeat the visitors 20-6 in a Western Buckeye League encounter and season opener Friday.

Shawnee, new team in the league this year, scored early in the first period. Kenton ran the opening kickoff back to Shawnee's 33-yard line but stalled there and Shawnee moved 64 yards for its score, with Chuck Riffe, quarterback, going over from the one-yard marker.

Kenton drove 32 yards to Shawnee's one where they lost the ball on a fumble but had the ball again when Shawnee's punt was blocked and recovered by Kenton at the three. Jim Hogan, halfback, sneaked over from there and Merle Highland converted to put Kenton ahead for good.

A Shawnee gamble on fourth down from its 31 missed by inches in the third period and Kenton took over to march 25 yards to the nine from where Hogan streaked across.

Kenton returned a Shawnee punt 17 yards to the Shawnee 29 yard stripe in the fourth quarter and started a drive for its final score. Quarterback Bob Butterman sneaked over from the one

The game was marred by an injury to Jack Mason, 19, tackle for the Shawnee team. He is in San Antonio hospital here with an eye injury and possible skull fracture. Mason suffered the injury in the fourth quarter on a blocking assignment.

Kenton meets St Marys, touted the best team in the WBL, Friday there.

Al Rosen Needs Hitting Streak To Win Crown

DETROIT (AP) — If Cleveland's third baseman, slugging Al Rosen, is to cop the American League triple batting crown, he will just about have to outhit Washington's Mickey Vernon two-to-one in the six remaining games each will play.

Rosen will sit out the opener of a two-game series between the Tribe and the sixth-place Tigers today because it is a Jewish holy day, Yom Kippur. While Washington is eight games short of a full schedule, two postponed contests with the New York Yankees won't be played because they can't affect the standings

Early Wynn (17-12) hurls for Cleveland today against southpaw Billy Hoeft (9-14).

Toledo Will Finish Without Hill Ace

By The Associated Press

Indianapolis, performing before 3,008 home fans, scored three times off Johnny Gray in the first inning to defeat Kansas City 5-2 last night and even their playoff standings at two victories each.

The Toledo-Louisville series will resume tonight with the pennant-winning Sox holding a 2-1 edge The Sox, however, will finish the playoffs without their ace pitcher, Gene Conley. The big righthander, with a 23-9 record for the season, is sidelined with a back injury.

Ohio Halfback Quits Steelers

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP)—Jack Zachary, rookie left halfback from Miami University of Ohio, has given up his quest for a pro job and left the camp of the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Steelers, now down to 37 men, will play their final exhibition game of the year tomorrow at Pittsburgh when they clash with the Los Angeles Rams.

These Days

By George Sokolsky

Censorship, in this country, is generally regarded with disfavor. The assumption is that the adult mind is capable of deciding for itself what is right and wrong, and that parents are capable of bringing up their own children.

SOKOLSKY

Yet Congress and state legislatures have passed laws against the libelous, the malicious and the salacious.

Early in the history of motion pictures, some producers recognized that there was money in sex. Despite the fact that in the nickelodeon days, as now motion picture theaters were attended mostly by children, the sex picture developed into the "Vampire" type of presentation.

came into existence and confused a growing industry. In 1929, Martin Quigley, editor of a number of motion picture publications, proposed a code governing moral implications of motion pictures. This was adopted in 1930.

The Production Code Administration was established by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., whose president was Will Hays, to administer the code (now Motion Picture Association of America, Inc.). Joseph I. Breen for many years has been in charge of this work.

The general principles of the code are:

"1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience shall never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

"2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

"3. Law, natural or human, shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation."

—:—

THOSE WHO adhere to this code do so voluntarily. The motion picture industry is not so organized that it can force a producer to obey the dicta of the Breen organization.

Since television came into existance, a surprisingly large number of so-called independents have been brought into the industry whose objective is eventually to sell films to television studios, thus bringing their pictures into our homes.

The Roman Catholic Church has established the Legion of Decency to advise its own members concerning motion pictures. Its classifications appear in parochial papers all over the country, so that the Legion of Decency's judgment of pictures has a widespread influence.

IT CLASSIFIES pictures as follows.

"A-I. Morally unobjectionable for general patronage. These films are considered to contain no material which would be morally dangerous to the average motion picture audience, adults and children alike.

"A-II. Morally unobjectionable for adults. These are films which in themselves are morally harmless but which, because of subject matter or treatment, require maturity and experience if one is to witness them without danger of moral harm.

While no definite age limit can be established for this group, the judgment of parents, pastors and teachers would be helpful in determining the decision in individual cases.

"B: Morally objectionable in part for all. Films in this category are considered to contain elements dangerous to Christian morals or moral standards.

"C: Condemned. Condemned films are considered to be those which because of theme or treatment are what has been described by the Holy Father as 'positively bad.'"

—:—

ON JUNE 28, Cardinal Spellman ordered that the motion picture "The Moon Is Blue" be denounced at all Masses as "an occasion of sin." Cardinal Spellman's instructions contained the following sentences:

"The producer refused to make any revision of the film and openly spurns the Code of the American Motion Picture Industry. The presentation of this film constitutes an attempt to ignore and override the moral law and to challenge the ideals of morally wholesome standards in public entertainment."

"The Moon Is Blue" was produced independently by F. Hugh Herbert and Otto Preminger and is adapted from Herbert's play, which had a successful run in New York.

Preminger is a Viennese who had been in Max Reinhardt's theater in that city and who, coming to this country a decade or so ago, has been engaged in stage direction in New York.

This is a test case, not of censorship, but of an industry policing itself. Few pictures are shown which reject the code as a controlling guide.

If the producers of "The Moon Is Blue" succeeds in establishing independence of the code, others will follow the flow of profits and the code, which is now 23 years old, will go out of existence. As the main audience for these productions and children, it could lead to stringest local censorship.

JANET HARING, one of the "skin divers" who took part in a big starfish hunt at Long Beach, Calif., is shown with a pile of the creatures, bigger than any hitherto known in the world. The giant starfish have virtually denuded this area of shellfish so 350 divers went underwater to clean them out. A marine laboratory conducted the hunt.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

ST LOUIS—The busiest scouts in America today are neither at the Yankee Stadium nor Brooklyn's Ebbets Field—they're in St. Louis, working the hotel corridors. And they're not reporting back to any clubhouse. They're telephoning directly to thet White House via Assistant President Sherman Adams' personal aide, the "anonymous" Max Raab.

RIESEL

The White House scouts are trying to discover just what sort of reception Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will get next Thursday when he steps up to the AFL's convention platform—on which will be ex-Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin.

The White House has been telephoning instructions to St. Louis these past few days preparatory to having the man who wrote the Japanese peace treaty attempt to make peace with the embattled AFL leaders. Well, the White House can call in its scouts for here is what will happen if Dulles does fly to St. Louis.

HE WILL BE graciously received—though much of the Eisenhower foreign policy will be criticized for cooperating with conservative elements abroad.

However the simple act of inviting Dulles to the convention is a sign of friendship. Not because the AFL is giving him a platform after the feud between Eisenhower and Durkin. But because the AFL has not, in many years, invited the Secretaries of State of even such men as Franklin Roosevelt and Harry Truman, who have been referred to in the past as American labor's most important business agents.

Neither former Secretaries of States George Marshall nor Dean Acheson were ever asked to address the AFL. To get a labor platform these former Fair Deal officials had to go to the CIO conclaves.

The invitation to Dulles by the AFL was a deliberate effort by its policy makers to point out that they approve of, although reserving the right to criticize, the broad Eisenhower-Dulles foreign policy, while they rejected that of Marshall and Acheson. Take that as fact.

THIS, HOWEVER, was not understood by the White House staffers. So they have been scouting the AFL leaders now in St. Louis to learn whether Dulles will be booed or treated rudely. Unless some extreme faction organizes an anti-Dulles demonstration, this won't happen. But the White House did fear the international repercussions throughout the Orient of a hostile labor demonstration in America against its foreign policy spokesman.

Strangely enough, it will fall on Dulles, the man who made friends for America and President Eisenhower in the Orient, in Iran and in Germany with some of the most daring behind-the-scenes maneuvers ever attempted, to pull the same coup with the AFL.

He plans to tell the 650 influential delegates that their international counter-maneuvering against the global Communist network has helped the free world beat back Moscow on many fronts. This is the worldwide operation run by the AFL's International Committee, headed by First Vice President Matthew Woll, whose executive secretary is Jay Lovestone. The International Committee has men in Tokyo, Rome, Berlin and Paris, where the office is directed by Irving Brown.

—:—

IF DULLES' speech goes over, he will have kept the critical AFL from all-out war against Eisenhower—and may well have saved the 1954 election, as he did the German election, with a few well-chosen and venturesome words. There is no doubt that he takes his chances on that platform. He will arrive after three days, and one Durkin speech, of anti-Eisenhower talk.

The AFL chiefs are especially bitter over an angry threat that the President threw at Durkin in the now famous half-hour effort to keep him from resigning last Thursday.

This came from President Eisenhower, who is not altogether well, and was fatigued by his trip and heartsick over the death of the late Justice Vinson, snapped at Durkin.

"All right. Labor has had its chance. There will never be another labor man appointed."

THAT REMARK IS all over AFL circles now and has had two effects. One, of course, was to embitter such men as AFL president George Meany, long a New Deal-Fair Deal Democrat. The other has been to alarm the powerful Republican labor bloc which actually controls a majority of the 9,000,000 votes at the AFL convention. They don't want to be cut off from the White House again as they were during the Democratic regimes. But neither do they want to stick their necks way out unless they get a personal nod from President Eisenhower.

Bucyrus Schools Request $625,000

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — The Bucyrus board of education, meeting in special session late Friday, unanimously adopted a resolution to place a $625,000 school bond issue for additions to schools on the ballot at the Nov. 3 election.

The program, as outlined by the School Supt. I. J. Miller, provides for 16 new classrooms and two multiple-purpose rooms tp provide for increasing enrollment in the city's schools. Crawford, Kearsley, Lincoln, and Norton grade schools each would get four new classrooms while the multiple-purpose rooms would be added at Lincoln and Kearsley.

The issue also would provide additional toilet and boiler rooms, small kitchens and shower facilities where needed. The additions would be separate units connected by means of hallways only.

In addition to new construction, funds would be provided for new heating plants and new lighting systems where needed, and a major overhaul of heating and ventilating systems at the high school building.

Recently the board indicated that a building expansion program would be necessary following a survey of the school system by Dr John E Gee of Bowling Green State University. He recommended at least 16 additional classrooms.

Supt. Miller said today enrollment this year is up 200 pupils and there is a shortage of four regular elementary classrooms this year. The bond issue, if approved, would run for 20 years and cost 16 mills a year.

PROFESSOR DIES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr Jacob A. Dell, 64, professor of practical theology at Capital University Seminary, died last night after a heart attack suffered while playing golf. He edited the Lutheran Outlook and wrote a column in the Lutheran Standard.

Among America's 4,012,100 business firms tallied by the last Department of Commerce census, one out of 15 uses match covers to convey sales promotion or other messages. Many companies use them for employe safety campaigns or personnel recruitment, and some use "civic booster" messages to win friends and customers.

The northern district of Lower California recently became Mexico's 29th state.

Four Dead, Two Injured In Stark County Crash

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Four persons were killed and two were hurt last night in an automobile collision on Rt. 43 five miles north of here.

The Stark County sheriff's office said the dead were:

Clayton B. Sluss, 29, of Canton. His wife Caroline, 27.

Wendell J. Rohrer, 27, of Rt 2, Louisville, Ohio.

Jack Strikich, 19, of Hartville.

The Sluss' 3-year-old daughter, Claudia, was hurt seriously and was brought to Mercy Hospital.

Allan Pfabe, 22, of Hartville, in whose car Rohrer and Strikich were passengers, also was hurt.

He told deputies he was driving toward Canton and the other car came out of the Mount Union-Greentown Rd. and hit his car broadside.

Deputies said they were unable to determine whether Sluss or his wife was driving the other car.

10,000 More Ohioans Will Heat With Gas

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 10,000 more Ohioans will be able to heat their homes with natural gas this winter, but the continuing gas shortage may force another 80,000 who want gas heat to wait.

The state utilities commission yesterday ordered subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas System in Ohio to serve 10,000 new customers who can install or convert to gas furnaces by Dec. 1.

But a commission spokesman said the companies have waiting lists of about 90,000.

The companies affected by the new order, and the number of applications they can approve, are: Ohio Fuel Gas Co. 4,700; Dayton Power & Light Co. 1,840; Cincinnati Gas & Electric 2,080; Manufacturers' Light & Heating Co. 675; Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia 675; Other smaller companies get the remaining 30.

The order does not affect East Ohio Gas Co., which serves large areas in northern Ohio and is a part of the Consolidated Gas System. East Ohio has a more adequate supply of gas than Ohio Fuel.

The companies covered in yesterday's order supply gas in 49 of Ohio's 88 counties.

REGISTRATION DEADLINE

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown yesterday reminded voters in many parts of Ohio they must register before Sept. 23 if they want to vote in the general election Nov. 3. Registration is required in 19 counties and parts of 17 other counties. The Sept. 23 deadline varies in some municipalities.

35TH POLIO CASE

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Butler County's 35th polio case of the season is an 18-year-old student at Miami University. Miss Clara Rosson, executive director of the county chapter of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation, reported the case yesterday.

It is estimated that the United States consumes about twice as much oil and natural gas today as it did in 1940.

Area CAP Event Set Near Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — North Central Ohio Civil Air Patrol squadrons will compete Sunday for proficiency trophies at the Galion-Crestline Airport when annual aerial missions are held.

CAP Chaplain Richard Headrick of Dayton will be featured in an elaborate flight demonstration. He has more than 11,000 logged hours flight time.

Warrant Officer George A. McBeth reported that a photography trophy has been added to the aerial mission trophies for the best press-type photo of CAP training or activities taken during the current flying season. McBeth is the photography officer for Group 5 of the CAP with headquarters at the Crawford County fairgrounds here.

The aerial mission event will cover a 40-square mile area. Approximately 25 Bucyrus CAP junior and senior members will have duty assignments during the afternoon's program.

Though usually silent, the porcupine can grunt, grumble, squeak, whine, mew, chatter, shriek, and even cry like a child.

Fair Ends Tonight At Upper Sandusky

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Winner in the saddle horse judging Friday at the Wyandot County Fair was Miss Patricia Kuntz of Carey. Jack Van Horn, of Upper Sandusky, showed the best pony between 48 and 52 inches high, and Ralph Krout, of near Forest was the winner in the pony under 48 inches class.

Charles Smith, of near Upper Sandusky, placed first in the sheep shearing contest, clipping two sheep in six minutes and 53 seconds and scoring 89.6 points out of a possible 100. Robert Riedel placed second with 84.9 and Fred Smalley was third with 81.7. Larry Gottfried won a junior contest for entrants under 21, with 77.9 points and a time for two animals of eight minutes and 33 seconds.

The fair is scheduled to close Saturday night with the H. Ward Beam auto thrill show in front of the grandstand. Day's activites will include the grand parade of livestock, floats and machinery, a tractor pulling contest, and the Junior Fair livestock sale.

82 Years of Spending

Federal Appropriations Well Into Second Trillion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is working on its second trillion dollars in appropriations in the last 82 years.

Since 1872, when the House Appropriations Committee started keeping year - by - year statistics, Congress has appropriated $1,162,000,000,000, well over half of it to the military.

More than half the staggering total was appropriated during the last 10 years, although the all-time high was the 147 billion dollars allotted in 1942, the first full year of World War II.

101 Billion in 1951

Only once during the last 10 years have annual appropriations exceeded 100 billion dollars. That was in 1951, when the threat of World War III became real and Congress shelled out 101 billion.

Congress didn't start thinking in terms of billions, much less trillions, until 1908. Appropriations soared that year past the billion dollar mark for the first time. They totaled $1,006,431,726.

They haven't dipped below the billion mark since.

In 1917 and 1918, with the United States involved in World War 1, appropriations took a big jump —to $18,800,000,000 in 1917 and 27 billion in 1918. The following year they dropped to $6,400,000,000.

They remained at a comparatively low level until Hitler started World War II in 1939. In that year Congress appropriated $11,400,000,000 as the United States started preparing for war.

Started in 1941

The real big spending started in 1941, the year the Pearl Harbor bombing brought the United States into the war. Appropriations in 1941 totaled $57,700,000,000 and soared to 147 billion in 1942 and $114,500,000,000 in 1943.

In 1944 and 1945 they dipped to $67,600,000,000 and $69,800,000,000 respectively.

Appropriations in 1946, the first year after the war, were $35,700,000,000. They rose slightly, to $35,900,000,000 in 1947.

But with the Soviets rattling their swords Congress got back on the big spending trail in 1948 and appropriated $41,600,000,000. Two years later, with the military buildup going strong, appropriations amounted to 81 billion, and in 1951 they passed the 100 billion mark.

Appropriations made in 1952 were 86 billion. This year they totaled 54½ billion.

60-Day Phone Strike Settled

Indiana Bell, CIO Union Sign Contract

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A 60-day-old strike against the Indiana Bell Telephone Co., a walkout marked by violence and mass picketing throughout the state, was settled early today.

Representatives of the company and the CIO Communication Workers of America signed what were called memorandum agreements at 3:12 a. m. EST after almost nine hours of a negotiating session which began Friday night.

Under terms of the agreement, the company's 6,900 union represented employes will receive wage increases ranging up to $2 50 a week All wage differences and other working conditions for the new contract had been agreed on since Sept. 5, but the details had not been announced.

The issue which kept the strike in progress for the last two weeks was a return to work clause, mainly involving the company's dismissal of 20 persons it accused of serious misconduct along picket lines at Bell's 82 Indiana exchanges.

Negotiators finally settled that stumbling block by agreeing that the dismissed employes would not be reinstated, but provided that each of them may appeal his case to a special arbitration board.

That board, under terms of the settlement, would be composed of three members chosen from five persons nominated by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

sell the country on the idea that "the federal government, and the federal government only, was authorized, competent and able to build a hydroelectric plant on any or all of the hundreds of rivers in the United States."

Favors U.N. Support

Mrs. F. Peavey Heffelfinger, Minnesota national committeewoman, told a conference session that the United Nations offers a chance for this country to provide not only technical help to other nations but "the kind of leadership which understands their problems."

"If we don't give it, Russia will," she declared. She was an alternate delegate to the recent United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization meeting in Paris.

Miss Marion Smith of Little Rock, Ark., co-chairman of the National Federation of Young Republicans, said that a change of 2,720 votes from Republican to Democratic in four districts could have given the Democrats control of Congress in last year's election. She urged party leaders to concentrate next year on 85 marginal congressional districts in the battle for control of the House.

1,000 Attend Banquet

Summerfield told a banquet audience of 1,000 women and a few men last night that the American people voted for Eisenhower last year because they were sick of war in Korea, of government by crisis, of graft, scandal and corruption.

"They were alarmed at our attempts to cuddle up to communism abroad and to coddle it here at home," he declared.

Summerfield called Eisenhower "our greatest natural resource" and "our greatest deterrent to World War III."

He said it was true, as Truman had charged, that there was a "wrecking crew" in Washington. But what was being wrecked, he added, was Truman's budget, economy-stifling controls, and Truman's belief that warfare between the legislative and executive branches measured the vigor of government.

He dismissed Stevenson's proposals for new attempts to negotiate with the Russians as splendidly phrased "and splendidly free of any new thought or any fersh understanding of the great problems besetting the world."

Democratic Promises

Summerfield said the Democrats never hesitated to promise anything and never worried about carrying out those promises.

The six conference representatives chosen to meet with Eisenhower at the airport were Ray C. Bliss, Ohio State Republican Chairman; Morton H Hollingsworth, Illinois chairman; Mrs John T. Thomas of Belleville, Ill., state vice chairman; Mrs. Clifford Laws, President of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins, head of the Citizens for Eisenhower group in Illinois, and Mrs Jewel Rogers, vice chairman of the Cook County (Chicago) Young Republican organization.

Man Becomes Physician, Then Surgical Patient

OMAHA (UP) — The first thing Kenneth L Urwiller did after becoming a doctor was go to a hospital.

But he didn't go to work Urwiller went in for an appendicitis operation one hour after he received his medical degree from the University of Nebraska.

Urwiller became ill the night before commencement. But doctor friends, who said an operation was necessary, helped him out of ice packs and to the auditorium. He walked slowly past Dr. James P Tollman to get his diploma, then was taken out a back door, missing most of the speeches.

An hour later he was in surgery.

Mrs. Maclean Feared Hiding With Husband

Diplomat's Wife Not On Train to Vienna, Conductor Declares

VIENNA (AP)—An Austrian railroad conductor said today he was "100 per cent certain—that Mrs. Donald D. Maclean did not catch an overnight train from Zurich to Vienna when she disappeared last week in Switzerland.

Oskar Rybiczka, a conductor on the Paris-Vienna express in which it was believed Mrs. Maclean might have traveled to Austria, told reporters: "I have seen pictures of Mrs. Maclean and I am positive she was not in the sleeping car.

"I remember pretty much everybody who was on that train and I am certain that there was no lady or couple with three children," he added.

Mrs. Maclean, Chicago-born wife of a long-missing British diplomat, and their three children vanished after putting her automobile into a Lausanne garage. Swiss police yesterday appeared convinced she had caught a train from Zurich to Austria last Friday and possibly continued on through the Iron Curtain.

Rybiczka said only a Swiss couple and two women—one an American—boarded the sleeping car at Zurich and took compartments.

Representatives of the Austrian Interior Ministry, meanwhile, reported efforts to establish definitely whether Mrs. Maclean actually entered Austria had been "utterly without result."

Reports from Switzerland said Swiss police, British agents and Austrian police were working on the theory that Mrs. Maclean headed out of Switzerland for a prearranged rendezvous with her husband.

Maclean disappeared 28 months ago with fellow British diplomat Guy Burgess and both were generally believed to have gone behind the Iron Curtain The two were Foreign Office experts on American affairs. Maclean had sat in on joint U. S.-British-Canadian political conferences regarding the atom bomb.

Ohioan Bothered Over Bigger Tires

AUGUSTA, Wis. (AP)—Big tires on a borrowed tractor worried Martin Cummins, 38-year-old Lewistown, Ohio, farmer who defends his national contour plowing title here today.

"I never have used 11 inch tires like those on the tractor the national plowing match officials made available," he said. "I've always had 10 inch tires, so I don't know just how I'll do with this rig."

The contestants must turn sharply and drop their plow shares cleanly. If a plowman doesn't know how his tires will grip, he might start his furrow unevenly and lose points

Cummins and his brother, R C. (Buss) Cummins, 41, both brought their own plows.

The contour and level land contest are held on staked plots of one third acre each. The contestants are judged on evenness of furrows, turnover of sod, land ends and other factors.

Craig Sheaffer Quits Post as Aide to Weeks

Commerce Secretary Accepts Resignation Of Top Assistant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Craig R Sheaffer, who had much to do with the since-reversed firing of Dr. Allen V. Astin as chief of the Bureau of Standards, has resigned as assistant Secretary of Commerce.

Astin was reinstated Aug 22 in the standards bureau post, which he never actually left.

The Commerce Department disclosed yesterday that Secretary Weeks, investigated the bureau's resignation, dated Sept 15, "on the authority of the President." Sheaffer is expected to turn to his fountain pen business in Fort Madison, Iowa, but a spokesman for the company said it had not been advised of his plans.

In his letter of resignation, he said he had planned to remain in the commerce post until next year. But he did not mention the stormy affair of the battery additive AD-X2, which led to Astin's resignation by request of Secretary Weeks.

The Bureau of Standards tested AD-X2 and reported it had no value as a rejuvenator of electric storage batteries, such as those used in automobiles A Post Office Department fraud order, denying use of the mails for promoting the product, was issued The order was suspended and, on Aug. 20, cancelled

Sheaffer, then right hand man to Weeks, investigated the bureau's action. Weeks, charging that the bureau had not been "sufficiently objective" in its tests, requested and received Astin's resignation

Then a storm of protest broke in scientific circles. Weeks first asked Astin to stay on while a committee of scientists helped choose his successor. But on Aug. 22, more than a month before the committee was scheduled to report, Weeks announced he was restoring Astin to his post permanently.

Plowing

Plainfield, Ill., on level land and Martin Cummins, Lewistown, Ohio, contour, were among the last to finish when they won their titles last year at Kasson, Minn.

A team of judges followed each contestant, alloting him points on evenness of furrows, turnover of sod, land ends and other factors important to good plowing

Imbody Competes For National Title

Robert Imbody, Marion County's entry in the national plowing matches being held today near Augusta, Wis., will have a hard time of it, according to reports of farmers who took an early practice round on the course Friday.

They said the ground on the course was just "too dry for first class plowing"

Imbody will be vieing for the national championship. He won the Ohio championship two weeks ago on a farm near Washington Court House. This is the first time Imbody had entered the contests.

Imbody will be seeking the level land championship Competing for the contour plowing victory will be R. C. "Buss" Cummins of Lewistown. He won that division of the state plowing matches held two weeks ago.

Ike Preparing For 30-Day Speaking Trip

Cross-Country Tour Will Cover 5 States, District of Columbia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower returns from a six weeks' Colorado vacation today gets set for a 30-day series of cross-country talks on administration policies.

He has accepted invitations to speak at Republican rallies and other meetings in five states and the District of Columbia—all the way from New England to the Mexican border.

Came Before Criticism

Most of the commitments were made before the Democrats began sniping at the administration's handling of the farm problem in their Chicago meeting early this week and before AFL President George Meany accused Eisenhower of yielding to the influence of big business.

In view of this and the fact that much spade work on the major talks had already been completed, some officials say the President will not seek to reply to these critics, preferring, as one put it, not to "engage in verbal duals."

But experience shows White House speeches are subject to change right up to the time of delivery. And some other officials would not be surprised if the President, at least by implication, took a crack or two at those who have begun to unlimber opposition guns.

Leads Off in Boston

Beginning Monday with a major political speech in Boston Garden at a night Republican rally, the President has scheduled speeches of varying length and significance also in Pennsylvania, Missouri, Louisiana and Texas.

A farm speech most likely will be made Oct. 15 before the Future Farmers of America in Kansas City, Mo. Here, Eisenhower would have a ready-made audience for a reaffirmation of his 1952 campaign pledges to farmers—price supports with a minimum of government control—and a retort to his critics

The Democrats at Chicago accused the President of running out on his farm promises.

Still Silent on Durkin

In other appearances, the President could, if he chose, give his side of the controversy stemming from the resignation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor. Durkin says the White House backed down on an agreement to send proposed Taft-Hartley Act revisions to Congress. Eisenhower supporters have said there was no such agreement, but the President has yet to reply to the Durkin statement.

Separated Twins Rest Peacefully

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Mouton Siamese twins rested peacefully in separate cribs today, after being moved from the recovery room at Foundation Hospital.

Dr. L. L. Weissmiller, hospital director, said the twin girls were moved to a private room late yesterday and now their parents, Mayor and Mrs. Ashton Mouton of Lafayette, La., "can spend as much time with them as they want"

The two eight-week-old girls, Carolyn Anne and Catherine Anne, were separated Thursday in a history-making operation. They were connected near the base of the spine.

Hospital officials said that never before have both twins survived such an operation.

The hospital director said the twins were "recovering normally from surgery. The results do look encouraging."

Layoff To Idle 22,000 Detroit Auto Workers

DETROIT (AP)—Some 22,000 Detroit auto workers had layoff notices today.

Chrysler Corp. announced last night it was closing its Plymouth plant here "indefinitely" and was laying off 8,000 production workers.

A few hours later, Briggs Mfg. Co., which makes Plymouth bodies, announced it was notifying 14,000 at three of its plants not to report Monday.

Chrysler blamed a shortage of trim material from suppliers for its Plymouth shutdown. A spokesman said he did not know why suppliers were unable to meet Plymouth trim requirements.

Briggs blamed its layoffs to Plymouth's shutdown.

Chrysler said 4,000 non-production workers, such as maintenance and clerical employes, would continue working at Plymouth.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Because of their necessarily light construction, the average screen door gives more trouble than solid or glazed doors. Due to the fact that they are made up of a light frame with large openings in the center and only one bracing member across the middle, they warp easily and loosen at the joints. One of the best things you could do would be to set angle braces at all four corners to keep the frame intact.

The screening itself comes in for a large amount of abuse. Children have the habit of pushing these doors open by placing their hands right in the middle of the screening. Adults with armfuls of bundles stick an elbow out to keep them from slamming. Both of these habits cause large bulges in the screening and frequently tear the mesh away along one edge or another.

A sure cure for the children's habit is to install two battens across the door. If these are properly located they will protect the mesh. The battens are made of ¼' x 1¼" strip and should be installed on both sides of the screening. A set of these easily installed protectors may well save you the job of rescreening a door every year if there are youngsters around the house.

One type of batten or guard costs about 10 cents each and can be fitted and screwed in place in a few minutes. If you want to be particularly fancy about your doors, you can buy brass rods and install them instead of the wood strip. The rods come with fittings at each end which can be screwed into the frame. These cost about a dollar apiece and are available in most well-stocked hardware stores.

Screened doors should always have closers. These may be spring-hinges, regular automatic closers or the economical coil spring.

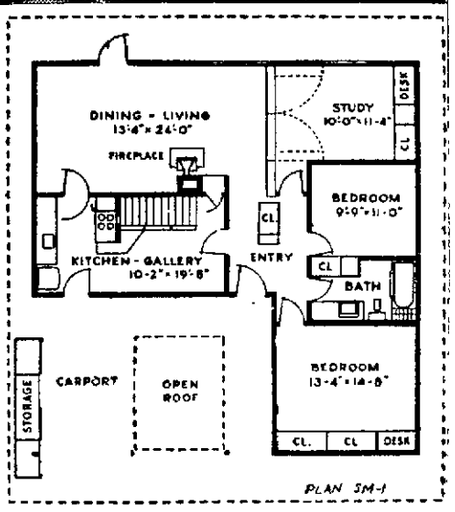
Show House With Level Temperature



By The Associated Press

A MODERN SHOW HOUSE designed to maintain the same temperature automatically the year-round and incorporating various novel ideas. Dotted line on the plan shows wide roof overhangs to shade windows in summer. Living room bookcases swing back to merge study with long living room, or close to provide third bedroom. Unusual fireplace, modeled after the historic Franklin stove, can be effectively dampered to avoid interference with air conditioning. Carport adjoins large outside storage closets. Dining galley is enclosed by front window wall and a decorative glass partition around basement stairs. The house was designed by Sherwood, Mills & Smith, architects (65 Broad St., Stamford, Conn.) working with General Electric engineers and kitchen experts. It was decorated under the supervision of Woman's Home Companion. House covers 1,200 sqare feet.

Epworth Circle Holds Pledge Service, Lunch

A pledge service was held at the luncheon meeting of Epworth Methodist Circle 1 Thursday at the home of Mrs. W. J. Langdon on Cherry St., and a report on the recent district missionary institute at Alger was given. The potluck luncheon preceded business. Guests were Mrs. Walter Eyster and Mrs. Virgil Curren. Mrs. C. B. Shetterly presided, and devotions were by Mrs. Charles Haley on "The Sower."

Report on the Alger meeting was given by Mrs. Curren, a member of the Mary Martha Circle. Mrs. Ethel McDougal conducted the pledge service, and a memorial service for Mrs. Princess Ruhl, a member who died recently, was conducted later by Mrs. Langdon.

Announcements were made concerning future meetings by Mrs. W. D. McGee, WSCS president. A zone meeting will be held at LaRue Sept. 30. On Oct. 1, the Epworth WSCS members will be guests of the Prospect Street Methodist women, and the general meeting for the Epworth society will be Oct. 8, in the evening, with supply work as the topic for discussion. Members of the circle voted to take part in a bake sale at the Montgomery Ward store on Saturday, this week. District Wesleyan Service Guild Week-End at Epworth Church here Oct. 10 and 11 was announced, the women's circles to assist in entertaining. A rummage sale was planned for later in October. The next circle meeting will be at the home of Mrs. A. W. Kette of 372 Forest St.

Truckers Receive Road Tax Booklet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state tax department has distributed 5,000 copies of a booklet containing detailed information on the new tax that soon will apply to trucks using Ohio highways.

John W. Peck, tax commissioner, said the copies had been sent to legislators, trucking industry associations, and large trucking companies. He has 8,000 more copies which can be obtained by writing his office in the State Office Bldg., in Columbus.

The booklet contains various forms truckers must fill out and explains the new law.

Wac Is Too Obliging, GI Winds Up in Korea

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Pvt. Edmund J. Noddoff of Boston, a statistician with the port transportation division here tells this on himself:

Last April at Camp Breckenridge, Ky., he had a date with a WAC corporal named Beatrice. He told Beatrice he wouldn't mind being sent to the Far East.

Two days later he was on his way to Korea.

Beatrice, it seems, was a special orders clerk in the adjutant general's office at Breckenridge.

Ontario Auto Crash Fatal to Ohio Woman

STRATFORD, Ont. (AP)—Two persons were killed and two injured last night in a two-car collision on a hill near this southwestern Ontario city.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Roberts, 65, of South Euclid, Ohio, and William R. Fraser of Stratford.

Legion Auxiliary Plans For District Meeting

Plans were made for the fall conference of the Sixth District which will be held here Oct. 7, at a meeting of Unit No. 162, American Legion Auxiliary, on Monday night in the Legion Dugout. Mrs. Anabel Smith, president presided.

The conference will be held at the Legion Dugout and Mrs. Marie Malloy, district president, will preside. Assisting will be Mrs. Joyce Moore as sergeant-at-arms, and Miss Marie Baker and Mrs. Ruth Brown in charge of registration. Mrs. Virginia Straus will serve as conference secretary and Mrs. Ann Hull and Mrs. Hester Harriman will arrange for the luncheon.

The fall campaign for membership is under way with Miss Marie Baker, first vice president as chairman. Deadline for the drive is Nov. 11. Awards will be made by the state and national auxiliary to units making their quotas by that date. A talk by Mrs. Florence Arndt on the Constitution of the United States was in commemoration of Constitution Day.

The charter was draped for Mrs. Marshall McKinstry, a member whose death occurred recently.

Mrs. Frieda Dix was a guest. Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Arndt, Mrs. Faye Eibling, Mrs. Helen Crandall and Mrs. Marie Malloy.

DINNER MEETING HELD

A 6 o'clock dinner followed a business and social meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen Wednesday afternoon in the Odd Fellows Hall. The committee included Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Elizabeth Straus-baugh and Mrs. Fern Savage. Awards were won by Mrs. Mary Jones, Mrs. Mabel Bonecutter and Mrs. Irene Shannon.

PUCO Okays Rate Hike For 2 Phone Companies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state utilities commission yesterday permitted two telephone companies to increase their rates.

It authorized the Continental Telephone Co. to increase rates in Continental and Miller City in Putnam County by $7,200 and the Citizens Mutual Telephone Co. of McClure, Henry County, to raise rates by $1,855.

From Bathtubs to Insulation

Tough Fiber Glass Called Versatile Building Stock

Glass you can't ordinarily see is getting new jobs almost daily, making homes more livable, more durable, more economical to operate.

This has nothing to do with windows. It is glass in fiber form, so tough that it is replacing steel in some places, so soft that it is used to stuff cushions, so fine and hairlike that it stops heat waves when used as an insulator.

You can do a lot of things with glass around your house without winding up in the proverbial fish bowl Of course, some people like glass in every form as a building material. There's David H. Brown, a retired Canadian undertaker, who is building a house in Creston, B. C, out of 57,000 empty embalming fluid bottles

Many Other Uses

Even if you haven't accumulated that many bottles, you can make many uses of glass. You can use fiber glass in corrugated plastic form for a porch roof to keep the rain out and let the light in. You can use large sheets of this material for partitions and room dividers to block the view, yet let light through You can build shower stalls with it or use it for shower doors.

Bathtubs are being molded out of fiber glass reinforced plastic weighing only about 17 pounds they are much lighter than pressed steel, which in turn was much lighter than regular cast iron tubs Chairs, pipes, tanks, even boat bodies are made of this material. Curtains and drapes woven from fiber glass yarns won't shrink, sag or burn And you can get fiber glass window screens.

Strengthens Wallboard

Now gypsum wallboard is being reinforced with fiber glass strands in place of the usual cellulose fibers to give this widely used dry wall material better nail ability and greater resistance to cracking and shattering. Cooperating in the development of this new wall board were the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp and the Certain-teed Products Corp

One result of mixing this form of glass with gypsum plaster has been the first single-layer construction gypsum board to earn a one-hour fire rating from the Underwriters' Laboratories. Malcolm Meyer, Certain-teed executive, says the new product shows up to 80 per cent greater shock boards without the fiber glass reinforcement.

"The fibers of glass hold the gypsum core together more cohesively and increase the wallboard's resilience," Meyer says. "This reduces incidence of damage in shipment, application and service."

If you're remodeling a house, or finishing off attic rooms, and plan to use dry wall construction, you should be able to get the new type wallboard for the same price as previous types and in standard thicknessess of ¼, ⅜ and ½inch.

No claims is made for increased insulation, since the fibers used are different from those in insulation batts and blankets, being spun primarily for strength.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: We have an iron railing on our open stair, and the paint is peeling off in pieces. Should we paint it and, if so, what kind of paint should we use"

A: If this is an outside railing exposed to the weather, clean off the rust with coarse steel wool and turpentine. Then apply a coat of red lead paint or some other rust-inhibitive paint. When this paint is dry, finish with any good grade of outside house paint. If this is a railing inside the house, scrape off as much of the peeled paint as possible; then smooth the surfaces by rubbing with "0" sandpaper, and wipe the entire railing with turpentine. Finish with a good grade of enamel.

Q: I have a cistern made of concrete blocks and coated with asphalt. But even with this construction, it has started to lose water What do you suppose is the trouble, and how can I fix it?

A: In such cases, it is frequently a sign that some part of the masonry has developed a crack. After draining, enlarge the crack so that patching cement can be worked into it at least an inch deep, with the sides of the crack parallel. Brush out all loose particles, wet the crack thoroughly, and pack with a fairly stiff mixture of one part cement and three parts of clean, coarse sand. Keep the patching damp for several days. Then, when dry, give it another coat of asphalt.

Q: Is it possible that extreme hot weather could expand the keyhole in my front door lock? Or is there some other reason why the key is hard to fit in the lock and difficult to turn?

A: It's possible, especially if the lock is fairly old, that the stiffness is caused by an accumulation of dust, formation of rust, or both Blowing powdered graphite with a small rubber bulb will help loosen up the parts inside the lock. Putting a few drops of household oil on the key and running it in and out of the lock several times will also help

Q: We have a problem with our chimney A black tar-like substance runs down into the first floor, making the whole house smell. What can be done about it?

A: Evidently the tar-like substance is on the inside of the chimney and the odor comes out through the furnace or stove. I suspect that the cause for this condition is the burning of a large quantity of wood that might be green. Also, the wood fire may be slow burning. There is no specific remedy for this condition other than using coal.

Right Tools Needed To Apply Paint Properly

To do a painting job properly, it is sometimes necessary to use helpful accessories. There are products, for instance, which aid in the removal of oil and grease or facilitate the taking off of old paint films which are unsuitable as a base for new coatings.

Other products help to fill up cracks and otherwise prepare surfaces. There are also tools which are used in the application of paint coatings: brushes, rollers and spray guns as well as other helpful items.

New Process Imprints Wood Grain on Metal

An ingenious finish for metal surfaces that resembles fine wood graining is accomplished by first coating the metal with a primer which provides the proper base color.

Next, a perfectly simulated wood grain pattern is imprinted onto the primer. This is followed by a coating of mar-resistant lacquer and a hand-rubbing process that gives depth to the pattern and adds to the beauty of the finish. Such a finish is applied in a factory during the manufacturing of such objects as TV cabinets.

In a dark basement, wonders can be worked with a coat of white on the ceiling and colorful paint on the walls and floor.

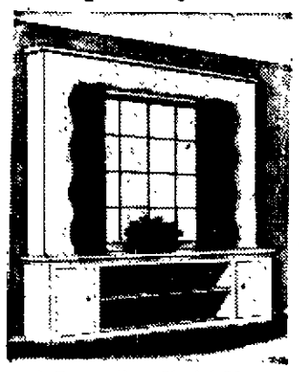
Neat Home Workshop Project

By the Associated Press

A window valance to house indirect lighting as well as curtain fixtures and providing book shelves and storage cabinets below is an easy and gratifying project for the home craftsman.

The design shown here can be adapted to almost any window width and height. Standard 1 by 10 lumber is used for valance, stile boards, sides and back, and 1 by 12 for the counter board over the lowershelves.

This design was worked out by the Homograf Company, 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Michigan. (Complete working drawings with a material list and construction procedures can be had from that firm.)



A Decorative, Useful Idea

Robert A. Skinner, son of Clarence R. Skinner of Fulton, recently was promoted to Corporal while serving with the 7th Infantry Division in Korea. He is a section leader in Company D of the 32nd Regiment. Cpl. Skinner entered the Army last September and completed his basic training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. He was a draftsman for the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. in Mt. Gilead prior to entering the service.

—:—

Pvt. Richard Riester has arrived in Korea, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Riester of 436 Ballentine Ave. A graduate of St. Mary High School in 1951, he entered the Army July 25, 1951. Pvt. Riester was employed at the Engineer Depot before entering the service.

—:—

A rousing welcome was given to Pfc. Robert E. Davis and his bride when they entered the USO at the YMCA in San Antonio, Tex. Tuesday night.

Pfc. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Davis of 544 Silver St., had just married Beverly Mason of Galion in the afternoon. A miniature wedding cake was presented the couple and special dance music was played in their honor.

The newlyweds will make their home in San Antonio. Pfc. Davis is stationed at Fort Sam Houston.

Board Chairman's Son Will Head Hoover Co.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—H. W. Hoover Jr., oldest son of the board chairman, will take over Jan. 1 as president of the Hoover Co., the vacuum cleaner firm announced.

He replaces John F. Hattersley, who offered his resignation at a special meeting of the board of directors yesterday. Hattersley, who will remain as a member of the board the firm's executive committee, has held the post since 1951.

ATTENDS CONVENTION

A Marion man, Neldon Peacock of 315 Belmont St., is attending the National Soft Water Service Convention and Trade Show at the Sheraton Hotel in Chicago. The convention and show runs through Friday.

Legionnaires To Attend Sixth District Meeting

Fred Thacker of near Marion, sixth district Legion commander, and other Legionnaires from Marion County will attend a sixth district conference and school at Danville Sunday.

As commander of the district, Thacker will be in charge of the meeting. In addition to a post officers school in which newly elected officers will be instructed as to their duties, conference cities and dates for the remainder of the year will be selected and the sixth district will begin its membership program for the year.

Richard Burklew of Marion is sixth district adjutant. Thacker said today he expected representation from all six posts in Marion County and over 100 Legionnaires at the conference. The sixth district includes Knox, Licking, Morrow, Madison, Union, Delaware and Marion Counties.

Reds Still Hold Americans, 2 Ohioans Claim

CLEVELAND (AP) — From two freed prisoners-of-war has come more evidence that the Communists still are holding American service men.

In Fremont, the family of Sgt. Carl Streeter was told by Navy Pharmacist's Mate James Headrick of Ocala, Fla., that he saw Streeter alive and well in a prison camp last August. The Communists had reported Streeter died in camp.

In Cleveland Sgt. Richard S. Mindick told a reporter he personally knew of four Americans still being held by the Reds. He said the four were removed from the Yalu River prison camp before the other internees there were repatriated. The Communists, he said, told him the men would not be freed with the other POWs.

Mindick said American military authorities had asked him not to reveal the names of the men.

The Old Chisholm Trail, over which cattle were once driven from Texas to Abilene, Kan., originated in Brownsville and is marked by the Texas highway department.

SOLDIER RETURNING

Pvt. Thomas F. Swinehart of near Upper Sandusky is among 17 Ohioans who are scheduled to land in San Francisco Sunday morning aboard the transport Gen. A. W. Brewster. The ship is returning 301 recently repatriated American prisoners home from Korea.

The population of Italy is increasing at the rate of 8 tenths of one per cent a year.

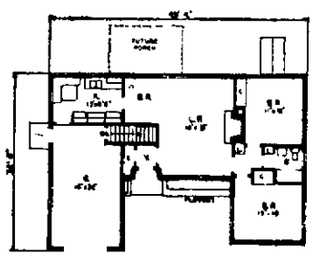
The Rambler


For the owner who wants a U-shaped house this design is ideal. Its low roof line and overhanging eaves give it a ranchy effect and cozy appearance.
When you enter the house your first glimpse is of the lovely fireplace. The combination of the living room and dining room gives this room a very spacious feeling. The living room has a picture window to the front and to the rear, so it should be adaptable to almost any location. Note the lack of unnecessary hall spaces. There is certainly no wasted room in this lovely house.

Thursday-Saturday—"Saturday's Hero" starring John Derek and Donna Reed.

New Disney Production Tops Billing at Palace

"The Sword and the Rose," Walt Disney's new live-action technicolor production, will be the main attraction of a double feature playing Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theater.

Completing the billing will be "Prowlers of the Everglades."

The former stars Richard Todd and Glynis Johns and brings to life the headstrong love affair between Princess Mary Tudor, reigning beauty of the court of King Henry VIII, and Charles Brandon, commoner captain of the palace guards. The princess defies royal edict and medieval morals to marry the man of her choice.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday is "All I Desire," a dramatic film co-starring Richard Carlson, Lyle Bettger, Marcia Henderson, Lori Nelson and Maureen O'Sullivan.

It tells the story of a woman who made one mistake and spends 10 unhappy years paying for her wrong.

"The Great Sioux Uprising," in technicolor and starring Jeff Chandler, Faith Domergue and Lyle Bettger, will be the attraction Thursday through Saturday.

Jeff Chandler is seen in the role of a medically-discharged Union officer who, while enroute to California to start a new life, becomes involved with a horse-rustling ring which threatens to drive the Sioux nation to the warpath. He averts war by the Sioux Chief, Red Cloud when he proves a white man's loyalty.

Ohio Schedules 10-Day Run of New Production

"Island In The Sky," with John Wayne in the starring role, will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater.

Opening a 10-day showing on Thursday will be "From Here to Eternity," a prize-winning novel that has been transformed into a motion picture. Continous shows, both matinee and evening, are scheduled for the showing of this film.

An adevnture drama, the action in "Island In The Sky" surrounds a crash-landing of a transport plane in the frozen wastes of northern Labrador. The story deals with the efforts of the crew to survive during the five harrowing days and nights while thrilling rescue attempts are made by other planes.

The featured cast includes Lloyd Nolan, Walter Abel, Andy Devine, Allyn Joslyn, James Arness and Harry Carey Jr.

"From Here to Eternity," a movie which critics say is destined for Academy Awards honors, stars Burt Lancaster, Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr, Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed.

The story is of a group of pre-Pearl Harbor professional soldiers and tells of their lives, loves and fights.

Montgomery Clift, a young soldier who loves the Army, transfers to an infantry outfit stationed at Schofield Barracks in Honolulu. Although a tough soldier, he has an independent streak in him and refuses when he is asked to join the company boxing team by his commanding officer. A brilliant boxer, he had once blinded his best friend while sparring. Clift is then given "The Treatment" by his fellow soldiers.

His courage is admired by his top sergeant whose liking for the courage of the soldier carried over into his own affair with the captain's wife, Deborah Kerr. Clift also finds romance with Donna Reed. Finally he turns upon his tormentors, kills a man and hides out with his girl.

Bowery Boys Featured In State Theater Film

"The Woman They Almost Lynched" starring John Lund and Audrey Totter, and "Clipped Wings" with the Bowery Boys, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Ladies of the Chorus" and "Yank In Indo China." The former stars Marilyn Monroe and Adele Jergers, and heading the cast in the latter are John Archer and Douglas Dick.

Stanley Clements and Karen Sharpe are the stars of the film, "Army Bound," which will be the main attraction of the double feature playing Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "Renegade Of Sonora" with Alan "Rocky" Lane.

Saturday only, the attractions will be "Safari Drums" starring Johnny Sheffield and Barbara Bestor, and "Blue Canadian Rockies" with Gene Autry and Pat Buttram.

North Drive-in To Show 'Son of Belle Starr'

"Son of Belle Starr" starring Keith Larsen, and "Girls of Pleasure Island," with Leo Genn and Don Taylor, will be a double feature billing Sunday through Tuesday at the North Drive-In Theater.

The former is the story of a young westerner who because of his parents has been classed as a criminal, which he is not. In order to prove himself he exposes a crime ring in one of the most unusual screenplays ever written.

"Girls of Pleasure Island" tells what happens when fifteen hundred Marines arrive on a remote South Pacific island exclusively inhabitated by three beautiful young girls, who have never seen a man of their own age, and their straight-laced father.

A first-run attraction showing Wednesday through Saturday will be "The Man From The Alamo," a technicolor adventure story. Starred are Glenn Ford and Julia Adams, with Chill Wills, Victor Jory and Hugh O'Brian heading the supporting cast.

It tells the story of one of the unsung Texas heroes—the only man to leave the Alamo alive. As John Stroud, Glenn Ford plays the part of a man scorned as a coward because the only ones who knew of his secret mission fell at the Alamo.

South Drive-In Books Pair of War Movies

A double feature attraction Sunday and Monday at the South Drive-In Theater will include "Flat Top" starring Sterling Hayden and Richard Carlson, and "Battle Zone" with John Hodiak and Stephen McNally.

Montgomery Clift, Anne Baxter and Karl Malden are the stars of the suspense drama, "I Confess," which will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday. Through the film is told the exciting story of a prominent lawyer who is murdered in the French Canadian capital, and of the witness who is unable to speak out and reveal though his own life and the reputation of a woman are at stake.

"Saturday's Hero," with John Derek and Donna Reed in the starring roles, will be the attraction Thursday through Saturday.

It tells the realistic story of a young high school athlete who jumps at the offer to play football for a tradition-bound eastern college. He quickly discovers that he is regarded only as one of the "kept man" in bigtime college football.

PRINCESS MARY TUDOR, played by Glynis Johns and Charles Brandon, portrayed by Richard Todd, face capture as they attempt to flee to America in the above scene from Walt Disney's new live action technicolor romance, "The "Sword and the Rose." It will be one attraction of a double feature playing Sunday and Monday at the Palace Theater.

'Dangerous When Wet' Scheduled at Marion

"Dangerous When Wet" starring Esther Williams, Fernando Lamas and Jack Carson, and "Devil's Doorway" starring Robert Taylor, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

The former is the story of the Higgins family who are induced to make a try at swimming the English Channel. Only Esther makes it, but before she has accomplished the feat she finds herself neck-deep in love with the handsome champagne king, Lamas. The latter tells of Robert Taylor's struggle as an Indian against ranchers in the post-Civil War era as they expand to the cattle and sheep-raising lands of the West.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Havana Rose" and "The Clouded Yellow." The former stars Estelita, and heading the

Hershey Predicts Big Draft Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft outlook is for a steep increase in calls in the latter part of 1954, perhaps to as many as 50,000 to 60,000 men a month.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, said in a CBS radio interview last night be expected "material increases" after the new fiscal year begins July 1 "perhaps as high as 50,000 to 60,000 a month."

He said the present of about 3,000 a month would probably be maintained until the end of this fiscal year. In July John A. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, calculated the monthly requirement would not rise much above 40,000 in mid-1954.

But Hersey said the number of men completing two year tours of duty would create a big need since "you wear out millions pretty fast when you rotate every two years."

Benson Seeks To Halt Decline In Cattle Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today called a special meeting of a livestock advisory committee here Sept. 24 on government programs for stabilizing cattle prices.

The meeting of the 26-member group — composed of representatives of producers, packers and meat distributors — will precede an expected heavy run of cattle to slaughter markets, which might bring on price declines.

Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen announced last night that, while beef is thus moving plentifully to market, his agency will purchase up to 10 million dollars worth for use in the overseas aid program.

The Agriculture Department announcement of the livestock committee meeting quoted Benson as saying the beef purchased by Stassen's agency will be from lower cost animals. The market for these was reported to need strengthening.

Benson was also quoted as saying "aggressive actions" taken by his department have restored confidence in cattle markets by stabilizing producer prices.

HIT BY TRAIN, DIES

BARNESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train struck and killed William McBurney, about 60, near here last night.

Has Hubby in Stitches

CLEVELAND (AP)—When his wife tickled Octavio Givadnadic in the ribs last night, the 22-year-old machinist had nothing to laugh about. He was shaving with a straight-edge razor which sliced down his chest. It took 13 stitches to close the wound at Polyclinic Hospital where Givadnadic told police his story.

Greenfield Pays Honors to General

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Gen John Edwin Hull, new United Nations commander in the Far East shook hands with 500 citizens of his hometown last night and told them their reception was his highest honor

Gov Frank J Lausche joined the townspeople in the hour-long reception in Greenfield's Elks Club for the man President Eisenhower named to succeed Gen Mark Clark

"My roots are deep here as you well know—over 100 years deep' Gen Hull said "Perhaps a man who leaves a community like this and is absent for long periods is the one who appreciates it the most'

Lausche told Hull he knew he would meet the issue 'should the hour of critical decision come'

Regarding his new assignment, Hull said

"We are still at war out there The armistice just stopped the shooting We want peace If our opponents do not we may have to go back to shooting"

Banks Sue To Collect On Slain Man's Note

CLEVELAND (AP) — Marvin Machine Products Inc, of Canton has been sued by two Chicago banks seeking to collect on an unpaid note left by John Nickles, who was slain last summer

The Universal National Bank and the National Boulevard Bank of Chicago filed suit in federal court yesterday They asked for the $28 000 and also for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the company's assets for the benefit of the two banks.

Their petition said a $28 000 promissory note which Nickles had received from the company was offered as collateral for a loan Nickles' name was listed as president of the Canton firm

Originally Nickles had borrowed $110 000 to pay delinquent taxes, and had deposited Belgian bonds as security. The banks later discovered the bonds were counterfeit Nickles said he bought the bonds in the belief they were genuine, and put up other collateral including the $28 000 note

Exchange Members Hear Address by Hale on Presidents

Earl N Hale, long active in civic and youth activities in Marion, was guest speaker when the Exchange Club met Friday His topic was 'Ohio Men in the White House"

He said that Ohio had given eight men to the presidency of the United States seven natives of Ohio and one who emigrated to Ohio, a number exceeded only by Virginia, which has sent eight native sons to this high post

Hale remarked that all eight men from Ohio were elected during an 80 year period He gave a brief outline of the life of each man The collection of such data is one of the many hobbies of Mr Hale

He closed by expressing his gratitude to the club for entering his name in the 'Book of Golden Deeds'

A welcome was extended to the Rev W L Stafford pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church, who recently transferred his membership from the Exchange Club of Maumee The meeting was in charge of Fred Schultz, president

Escape Hatch Prevents Drowning in Beer Vats

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — Glassed-steel beer storage tanks are now being equipped with an "escape hatch."

The Pfaudler Co. said the special door can be opened from the inside and eliminates accidental imprisonment of a man cleaning the tank.

The new door makes virtually impossible the chance of a man drowning in beer or being overcome by gases.

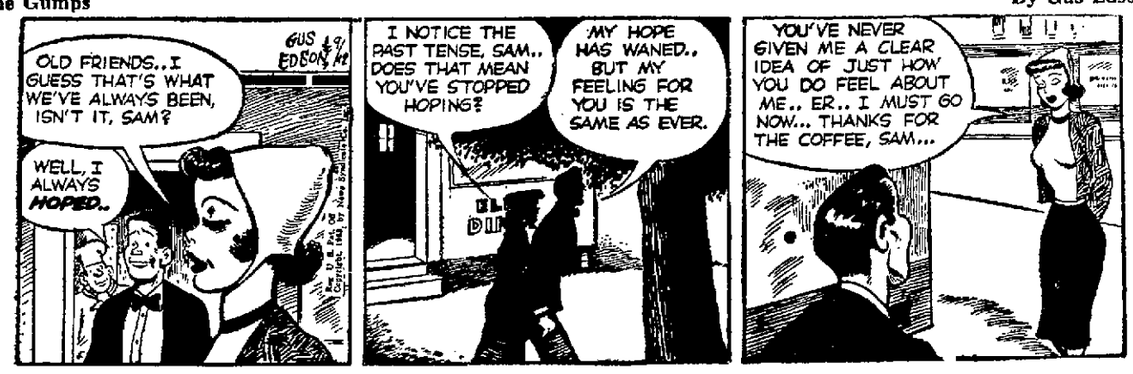
The Gumps — By Gus Edson



OLD FRIENDS.. I GUESS THAT'S WHAT WE'VE ALWAYS BEEN, ISN'T IT, SAM?
WELL, I ALWAYS HOPED..
GUS by EDSON
I NOTICE THE PAST TENSE, SAM.. DOES THAT MEAN YOU'VE STOPPED HOPING?
MY HOPE HAS WANED.. BUT MY FEELING FOR YOU IS THE SAME AS EVER.
YOU'VE NEVER GIVEN ME A CLEAR IDEA OF JUST HOW YOU DO FEEL ABOUT ME.. ER.. I MUST GO NOW... THANKS FOR THE COFFEE, SAM...

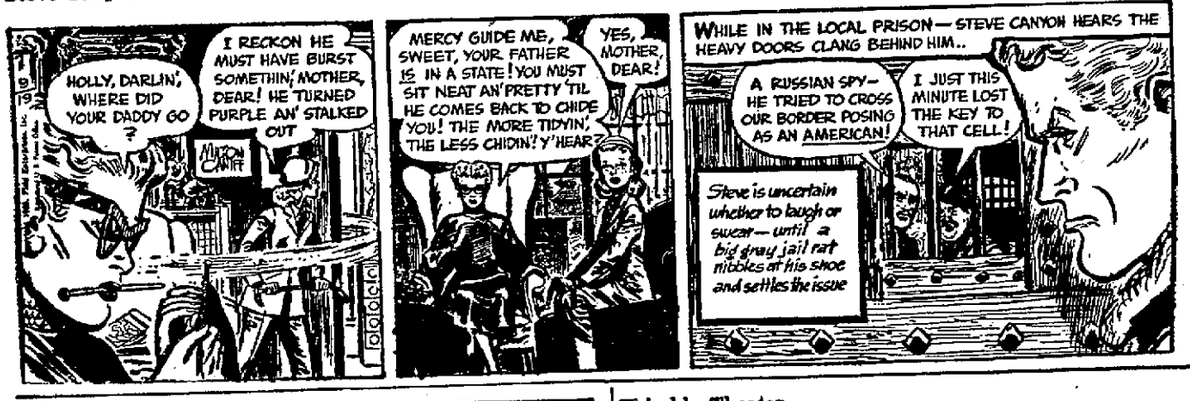
Steve Canyon — By Milton Caniff



HOLLY, DARLIN', WHERE DID YOUR DADDY GO ?
I RECKON HE MUST HAVE BURST SOMETHIN', MOTHER, DEAR! HE TURNED PURPLE AN' STALKED OUT
MILTON CANIFF
MERCY GUIDE ME, SWEET, YOUR FATHER IS IN A STATE! YOU MUST SIT NEAT AN' PRETTY 'TIL HE COMES BACK TO CHIDE YOU! THE MORE TIDYIN', THE LESS CHIDIN'! Y'HEAR?
YES, MOTHER, DEAR!
WHILE IN THE LOCAL PRISON—STEVE CANYON HEARS THE HEAVY DOORS CLANG BEHIND HIM..
A RUSSIAN SPY—HE TRIED TO CROSS OUR BORDER POSING AS AN AMERICAN!
I JUST THIS MINUTE LOST THE KEY TO THAT CELL!
Steve is uncertain whether to laugh or swear—until a big gray jail rat nibbles at his shoe and settles the issue

Did You Know

Kill Devil Hill in North Carolina, where the golden anniversary of the first airplane flight is being celebrated in 1953, got its name, according to legend, from a brand of rum so potent that it could "kill the devil."

—:—

The first settlement made by white men on the Atlantic coast of North America was near Winyah Bay, S. C., in 1526, by Lucas Vasquez de Ayllon, a Spaniard, with about 500 people, including Negro slaves.

—:—

Chimpanzees, generally regarded as the smartest of the apes, can master simple arithmetic, apparently recognize photographs of themselves, and learn table manners, including use of cup and saucer, knife and fork.

—:—

Loose connections in an incandescent lamp or its wiring can cause a humming noise in a radio. Fluorescent lamps can also cause some radio interference which can be eliminated by installing a special filter.

Red hot iron cools more quickly in water than in air at the same temperature because the denser water soaks up heat better than air. Water is some 800 times denser than air and is a much better conductor of heat.

The Ancient Burying Ground at Woburn, Mass., dating from 1642, contains the graves of the ancestors of four U. S. Presidents — Franklin Pierce, James A. Garfield, Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison.

—:—

The fragrance of a flower is not 'piped" up from the soil but is manufactured by chemical reactions in the plant cells. The way that the carbon, hydrogen and oxygen elements taken from the water and air are put together causes the different odors.

—:—

An estimated 800,000 Americans over 40 are losing their sight because of glaucoma, and many of them don't even know they have the disease, reports Dr. Franklin M. Foote, executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindess.

—:—

In the early days of the cattle industry in Wyoming, cattle driven from Oregon were called "westerns" or "Oregon natives," while those driven from Iowa, Indiana or Ohio were called "Americans" or "States."

—:—

The history of the abrasive industry is almost as old as the history of mankind. The caveman used abrasive materials to fashion weapons and tools, according to Electro Refractories & Abrasives Corp.
